Henry Wallace's Old Cowboy!

When I read about the one-time singing cowboy, I put in a call. The political news out of Idaho is good.

The best soothsayers out there seem to agree that Glenn H. Taylor, the garrulous eccentric who ran for the vice-presidency in that curious political circus which Henry Wallace headed in 1948, with the Communists not too far in the background, won't win the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate.

Having repudiated the Democratic party in 1948 to fellow-travel with the sadly deluded Henry Wallace Progressive party, Taylor blithely returned this spring and qualified as a candidate in the Democratic party primary.

Wallace was duped in 1948, Taylor didn't seem to be. Wallace talked vaguely, if sincerely, and refused to believe the Communists were behind him. But, not even Wallace carried out the little tricks which the comrade strategists figured out as vote-getting tactics.

Taylor was the stooge who came to Birmingham, Alabama, and set a trap into which the steel town police thoughtlessly tumbled. He announced before a speaking that he would violate the segregation ordinance at the local town hall and defy police. They fell for the publicity plot and arrested him. It made Page One all across the nation and the Daily Worker and the commie propagandists raged and shook their verbal fists at a great rate.

Atlanta

Taylor announced he would then go to Atlanta, Georgia, and eat in a Negro restaurant. The comrades were gleeful at the prospect. Atlanta's mayor, Bill Hartsfield, read about it and announced that this would be just dandy and that to be sure no one bothers Mr. Taylor at mealtime, he, the mayor, would have two of Atlanta's most efficient Negro police escort him to the cafe of his choice.

It was perfectly true that Candidate Taylor didn't seem to savor his vittles, as a waiter commented, when asked about the Taylor appetite. Anyhow, there was no trouble, no arrest, no publicity and Taylor was made to appear ridiculous.

Taylor's term in the Senate concluded in 1950, and the Democrats concluded to refuse him the nomination for a second term. Since that time Taylor has been largely out of the state, working in the construction business. The word is that he had some part in some of the Alaskan contracts. There is an investigation on which will look into much of the work done in that distant area. But, as yet there is no charge that Taylor was the beneficiary of the lucrative "windfalls" suggested by the early phases of the investigating committee's work.

The Alaskan contract work had, however, a profound influence on the former senator's taste in clothing. Once he featured the cowboy hats—the larger kind. He came back from Alaska and the Northwest wearing a Homburg, of the type made popular by the GOP administration.

To Type

After a few weeks of small neighborhood meetings, a form of campaigning popularized by the Eisenhower drive in 1952, when they proved strongly effective, Taylor has reverted to type. This week he started out with a sound truck, taking his family along. There is a platform atop it, and the candidate's two daughters will entertain from it with dance and song and the one-time "Singing Cowboy" Senator may even in time swap Homburg for a broad-brim and get out his git-tar again.

The word from Idaho is that this won't be enough.

Prof. Claude Burtenshaw, a member of the faculty at Ricks College in east Idaho is expected to win the Democratic nomination. He was the nominee four years ago and ran a good strong race, right down to the wire, against Henry Dworshak who was the more silent of the four-man GOP television team during the Joe McCarthy hearings, now so mercifully gone from the air waves.

Politics dredges up some fearful specimens and Taylor is one of these. That he isn't expected to win the nomination is the good news out of Idaho.

Garrett Returns To Alabama for Vote Fraud Trial

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 12 (AP)—Si Garrett, whose duties as attorney general make him Alabama's chief law enforcement officer, was arrested here today on a vote fraud indictment.

Associated Press Wirephoto
DENIES VOTE FRAUD
Alabama Atty. Gen. Garrett

A lunacy proceeding was filed against Garrett a short time after he posted $1,000 bond on the vote fraud charge.

600-VOTE DISCREPANCY

Garrett and two other men were indicted June 30 on charges of altering 600 votes in Jefferson (Birmingham) County in the June 1 Democratic primary to nominate Garrett's successor.

Under state law, convictions in the vote fraud cases are punishable by fines up to $1,000 and prison sentences of not more than 12 months.

Albert L. Patterson of Phenix City, who won the nomination against the opposition of Garrett, was the victim of a gang-style slaying there June 18, a few days before Patterson was scheduled to appear as a witness in the vote fraud inquiry here.

WENT TO TEXAS

Indicted with Garrett, and arrested June 30, were Circuit Solicitor Arch Ferrell of Phenix City and Lamar Reid, Birmingham, chairman of the County Democratic Executive Committee.

All three supported Lee Porter of Gadsden, beaten by Patterson by 1,454 votes on a tally which corrected the 600-vote change in Jefferson.

Solicitor (prosecutor) Emmett Perry of Jefferson filed the lunacy proceeding against Garrett in Circuit Court here. The case was set for hearing July 21.

Garrett said he would take his wife and two small children on a brief vacation "out of this state" and return for trial. He declined to discuss the lunacy action.

The Jefferson vote fraud was discovered by newspapermen when the certificate sent in for the official state tabulation gave Porter 23,660 votes instead of the 23,060 announced when the county canvass was made.

The grand jury here immediately began an inquiry, prior to the official state canvass.

During the heated race for attorney general, both Porter and Patterson charged the other with having the backing of Phenix City gangsters. Phenix City, a rowdy center of night clubs, gambling tables and B-girls, was shut down by National Guardsmen after Patterson was slain.

Garrett, Ferrell and Reid were charged specifically with altering

'Foes Know I'm Ahead' ---Thompson

By ALBERT RILEY

While Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin renewed his attacks on the Atlanta newspapers in Monday night's gubernatorial campaigning, former Acting Gov. M. E. Thompson claimed he (Thompson) is far out in front in the race.

As Griffin charged the Atlanta papers and a few politicians of trying to "steal the election from the people of Georgia," Thompson said his own candidacy is being attacked by all the other major candidates because they know he is leading and they are becoming frantic.

Other political stories on pages 9 and 15.

Both pointing pridefully to their large opening day crowds last Saturday in Douglas and Moultrie, Thompson and Griffin spoke over WSB-TV in Atlanta as the first week of official campaigning got under way.

Rep. Charles Gowen told audiences in Statesboro, Portal and Brooklet that conversion of Georgia's public school system into private schools would constitute an invitation for Communists to come into the state and take over the schools.

Commissioner of Agriculture Tom Linder, speaking in Blue Ridge, renewed his advocacy of a state system of markets for the products of Georgia industry.

While these four candidates were speaking for votes, a fifth major candidate, House Speaker Fred Hand made ready to open his campaign headquarters Tues-

Mid-City Mobile TV Tower Falls During Storm

MOBILE, Ala., July 12 (AP)—The 435-foot WALA-TV tower crashed to the ground in downtown Mobile late today during a sudden windstorm. No one was injured.

The tower fell on dozens of cars in a parking lot back of the WALA building. Its top struck the back of the Woolworth building in the next block. WALA-TV officials estimated the loss at $100,000.

7 Atlanta Ministers Urge Churches Help Carry Out Segregation Ruling

By LAURA BARRE

Seven Atlanta ministers told members of the Christian Council of Atlanta Monday that the churches have an obligation to help carry out the Supreme Court ruling against segregation and that the churches must lead in the matter of integration of the races.

The ministers spoke on the basis of actions their several denominational bodies had taken regarding segregation.

They were Dr. John R. Brokhoff, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer; Dr. Stuart R. Oglesby, pastor of Central Presbyterian Church; the Rev. Milton L. Wood Jr., rector of All Saints Episcopal Church; Dr. Roy O. McClain, pastor of First Baptist Church; the Rev. Harrison McMains, pastor of First Christian Church; Dr. Herman L. Turner, pastor of Covenant Presbyterian Church, and the Rev. Rembert Sisson, pastor of Druid Hills Methodist Church.

They spoke in a panel discussion on "What the Churches Have Said About Segregation."

Dr. Turner said that integration should begin in the Christian Council and similar organizations. "Let's have an unsegregated Christian Council," he said.

Dr. J. McDowell Richards, president of the council, said that the suggestion already is being studied by the council's executive committee. Approximately 17 denominations are represented in the council membership.

In general, the ministers agreed that the segregation pattern cannot be defended on the basis of Christian principles.

The Rev. Mr. McMains said "there should be no doubt in this community as to what stand the churches are taking on the matter." Several members of the audience murmured agreement.

Dr. Oglesby, the Rev. Mr. Wood, Dr. Brokhoff, Dr. Turner and the Rev. Mr. McMains indicated their denominations already have taken some action to lead in doing away with segregation.

Dr. McClain said the Southern Baptist Convention has called the Supreme Court ruling "in harmony with Christian principles" and the Rev. Mr. Sisson referred to the Discipline of the Methodist Church, which states "there is no place in the Methodist Church for racial discrimination or racial segregation."

"LISTEN HERE, ENOUGH OF THIS"
Ex-Boss Hague, Right, Rages at Subpoena Server

Hague Is Subpoenaed; Almost Causes a Riot

JERSEY CITY, N.J., July 12 (AP)—Former political boss Frank Hague was handed two subpoenas today when he came out of retirement for the first time in two years to attend his nephew's funeral, and he nearly caused a riot when he shoved a process server.

A crowd of 1,000 gathered outside a funeral home was held back by policemen during the angry exchange, in which Hague protested bitterly against the disruption of a funeral for such a purpose.

Both subpoenas ordered him to appear in court in connection with investigations of scandals during the 20 years he ran Jersey City.

FROM PARIS

The 78-year-old one-time national political power cut short a European vacation to rush back from Paris to mourn the passing of his political heir, Frank Hague Eggers, who died of a cerebral hemorrhage Thursday at the age of 53.

The first subpoena handed Hague ordered him to appear as a witness at a suit by the city to recover $15,000,000 in "3 per cent" political kickbacks allegedly collected from city employes during Hague's rule. Other defendants in the suit were John F. Malone, Hague's former deputy mayor, and Eggers.

The second subpoena, handed Hague as he drove away from the funeral, ordered him to appear as a witness July 21 at a City Commission investigation of "procedures" of present and past city administrations.

HAGUE STUNNED

Hague was stunned momentarily when a process server identified as Leo Gattoni stepped up to him in the crowd outside the funeral parlor, flashed his badge and shoved the paper into Hague's hand.

Hague shoved Gattoni and kicked him. He brandished his fist and shouted:

"Listen here, enough of this. Imagine, on an occasion like this, serving me with a subpoena. Imagine them pulling this."

The crowd moved forward and Hague began to kick one foot toward Gattoni. Police moved in and led Gattoni away. A guard was assigned to Hague and stuck at his side through the mass at St. Patrick's Church and to the Holy Name Cemetery, where Eggers was buried.

Plan Denying Aid to France, Italy Dropped

WASHINGTON, July 12—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee abandoned today a plan which might have deprived France and Italy of all foreign aid at the end of the year, and then approved a $3,100,000,000 foreign aid program for the next 12 months.

Chairman Wiley (R-Wis) announced the committee had vetoed 8-5 to accept virtually unchanged the House approved language of a far less dramatic provision.

(Sen. George of Georgia was among those voting for the House version.)

The committee also voted, 7-6, Wiley said, to approve an amendment by Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) which would hand over the foreign aid program to the Defense and State Departments on June 30, 1955.

The amendment affecting France and Italy, two of America's major allies, was softened after it was reported that the administration requested such action.

In the form tentatively approved by the Senate group over the weekend, the amendment would have cut off American military and economic assistance to the two countries on Dec. 31 unless by that time they had joined the European Defense Community or an acceptable substitute defense setup.

The House version, known as the Richards amendment, would deny to France and Italy a share of 1954 or 1955 foreign aid funds if they failed to ratify the EDC pact, but would not bar them from previously appropriated funds. A good deal of the goods purchased with this money is just entering the foreign aid pipeline.

Churchill Backs U.S. On Peiping

By JACK SMITH

LONDON, July 12 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill said today Britain stands with the United States in opposing admission of Communist China into the United Nations under present conditions.

Simultaneously the prime minister hinted that President Eisenhower favors in principle his plan for an informal meeting between them and Soviet Premier Georgi N. Malenkov.

SURPRISED AT UPROAR

"The foreign secretary (Anthony Eden) and I were astonished on our homeward voyage to read in the press and other reports which were sent to us of the storm suddenly raised in the United States by Sen. Knowland (Republican majority leader) about the possibility of Communist China being admitted to the United Nations against American wishes, and still more astonished that these reports seemed to be in some way or other linked with our visit, as if we had come over for such a purpose," he said.

Churchill emphasized that the subject "played no noticeable part" in his Washington discussions and was "not an immediate issue."

TIME FOR JUDGING

"Athough the British government still believes that the Central People's (Communist) government should represent China in the United Nations," he told the packed House, "they do not consider that this is the moment for the matter to be reconsidered."

The prime minister said time would be needed to judge China's good faith and cooperation even if

Graham Ordered To Rest After Kidney Surgery

ASHEVILLE, N.C., July 12 (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham underwent an operation today for the removal of a kidney stone and was ordered to rest for six weeks.

Dr. Thomas R. Huffines, kidney specialist, said the stone was "satisfactorily" removed and no further operating procedure will be necessary.

Huffines said the 35-year-old evangelist is "perfectly all right" but will be kept in Memorial Mission Hospital at least 48 hours.

Jane Withers Gets Million In Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif., July 12 (AP)—Jane Withers, the former child actress, won a divorce and a million dollar property settlement today on testimony her Texas oilman husband "drank and gambled excessively."

The 28-year-old Miss Withers, occasionally breaking into tears, said of her life with William P. Moss Jr., 33:

"He often embarrassed me in public. Once, in a Midland, Tex., night club, he threw his shoes on the dance floor. Then he told me he didn't love me and that was the end."

(Miss Withers is a native of Atlanta.)

Superior Judge Allen T. Lynch approved a property settlement which provides for: $1,000 a month alimony and support for the couple's three children; a $100,000 trust fund, guaranteed by a $100,000 insurance policy; a $24,000 college education insurance policy for the children; half of community property, including oil lands valued at about $500,000.

Warns U.S. Won't Accept Weak Truce

By DANA ADAMS SCHMIDT

WASHINGTON, July 12—Secretary of State Dulles tonight flew to Paris for talks with French premier Mendes-France and British Foreign Secretary Eden. His departure came less than six hours after he had received an urgent invitation from the French premier and foreign minister.

The three foreign ministers will confer on the Geneva negotiations for a settlement in Indochina, which are entering their decisive phase this week.

Before he left Washington's National Airport tonight Dulles emphasized that his trip to Paris did not mean that he had decided to go to Geneva to take part in the Indochina negotiations.

MAY HOLD BACK

He indicated that the United States might find it necessary to dissociate itself from any Indochina settlement reached at Geneva.

"The United States itself," he said, "is not a belligerent in Indochina and it is not clear that the interests which we hold in common with France and Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia will necessarily be best served by identical action in all respects."

But at the same time he expressed the hope that his meeting with his French and British colleagues would result in "coordinated action" by the three governments. He said he meant by going to Paris to demonstrate "the deep concern" he feels over developments in Indochina and Europe.

TO LEARN PROSPECTS

Dulles' aides added that he would reserve his decision as to whether to go to Geneva until after he has heard from Mendes-France what the prospects are for an Indochina settlement without surrender. They explained that he was reluctant to go to Geneva unless there was some indication that the Communists would agree to a settlement the United States could underwrite.

Mendes-France presumably will be able to tell him what can be expected from the Communists. Since last night the French leader has had conversations in Geneva with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and Chinese Fair skies and continued hot weather is in prospect for Atlanta and the northern section of Georgia Tuesday and Wednesday.

The forecaster at the Atlanta Weather Bureau said the low reading early Tuesday will be a warm 72 with the mercury expected to climb to 94 during the day. Fair weather and a range of 72 to 96 is predicted for Wednesday.

New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

LOS ANGELES, July 12—Two Texas multimillionaires are planning to acquire half a dozen of the nation's big horse racing tracks and operate them for the benefit of underprivilegd boys.

The principals in the project are Clint Murchison and Sid Richardson, the Dallas oil men recently in the limelight as key figures in the shift in control of the New York Central Railroad to Robert R. Young.

They also recently bought control of the Del Mar Race Track, 100 miles south of Los Angeles.

Del Mar would be the nucleus of the planned chain of tracks. The five others have not been specified, but are understood to include one in Chicago and another in San Francisco. The owners of the five reportedly have indicated they would sell their interests if agreeable terms could be arranged.

As the plan was outlined today by the Texans' attorney, C. Ray Robinson, in a telephone interview from Merced, Calif., 90 per cent of the profits from the tracks would go to Boys, Inc., a non-profit foundation recently incorporated in Delaware.

The foundation would operate a chain of centers in underprivileged sections from coast to coast. These centers would have recreational facilities, guidance counselors and vocational training facilities in which industrial concerns might participate.

The other 10 per cent of the tracks' products would go to maintain the central organization that would operate the tracks. The financial scope of the project obviously would run into tens of millions of dollars.

The sponsors would like to have J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, head Boys, Inc., whenever he sees fit to retire from federal service.

The project, Robinson said, grew out of a conjunction of a long-standing desire by Murchison to help underprivileged boys, and a growing belief—in the expression of which Robinson himself has been prominent—that the present basis of operation of race tracks, as virtual gambling monopolies, could not persist indefinitely.

Ike Asks Highways For Atom Defense

Proposes $50 Billions For Network by 1970

BOLTON LANDING, N.Y., July 12 (AP)—President Eisenhower tonight proposed a $50,000,000,000 highway building program to improve atomic defenses and prepare for a population of 200,000,000 by 1970.

The proposal was placed before the annual Governors' Conference by Vice President Nixon in a speech from notes prepared by the President. Nixon substituted because of the death of the President's sister-in-law, Mrs. Milton S. Eisenhower.

The proposal followed a bitter protest among the governors, at their opening business session, against the government's plan to boost highway spending.

CONSPIRACY CRY

Charges of a "conspiracy among the federal bureaucracy" and "appeasement" flew among governors who had demanded repeatedly that the government turn over to the states the levying of gasoline and automobile excise taxes and the whole road-building program.

The White House had advance warning of the governors' attitude and Eisenhower's notes were prepared with it in mind. They emphasized a need for closest possible federal-state cooperation.

Declaring that the penalties of an inadequate highway system are manifold, the President listed among them: "Appalling inadequacies to meet the demands of catastrophe or defense should atomic war come."

Government planners feel that present highways are inadequate for a swift movement of military units. Civil defense planning since the advent of the hydrogen bomb has turned from shelters to a policy of "get out of town."

OBSOLETE NATIONALLY

Eisenhower said the present highway network is "inadequate locally and obsolete as a national system."

"To start to meet this problem, at this session of Congress, we have increased by approximately $500,000,000 federal monies available to states for road works," the President wrote.

"Experts say $5,000,000,000 a year for 10 years—in addition to current normal expenditures—will pay off in economic growth.

"And, when we have spent $50,000,000,000 we shall only have made a good start on the highways the country will need for a population of 200,000,000."

He said the American philosophy as applied to public affairs "is the middle road between nihilistic chaos and enslaved regimentation."

On the bright side he saw technical developments and great economic growth. On the dark side he saw shortages of classrooms and hospitals and a transportation system which may be the best in the world but is "far from the best America can do for itself in an era when defensive and productive strength require the absolute best."

Builder 'Clams Up' in Windfall Quiz; Justice Dept. Seeks Perjury Angle

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—Sidney Sarner, a New Jersey builder, refused to testify before Senate housing scandal investigators today and they promptly sent his case to the Justice Department for possible perjury prosecution.

The Senate Banking Committee also decided to look into the question of whether Sarner and his lawyer, George L. Marcus, committed contempt of the Senate. Marcus told a senator during a stormy hearing not to "shoot your mouth off" about Sarner's business.

Sarner was called to testify at a public session on an alleged $2,500,000 "windfall" profit on a government-insured mortgage on a Fort Lee, N.J., apartment project. He declined to answer questions on grounds of possible self-incrimination.

WON'T ANSWER

Marcus also declined to answer some questions on grounds it would violate an attorney's confidence with his client.

The committee then voted in secret session to send to the Justice department testimony Sarner originally gave in a previous closed-door meeting. The committee also submitted to Atty. Gen. Brownell the closed-door testimony of Ralph Solow, Sarner's former partner.

SHOPPING CENTER

The committee also voted to ask Senate legislative counsel Kohn H. Simms for an opinion on whether Sarner's refusal to produce a document called for by subpoena "constitutes contempt of the Senate."

Sarner

Marcus

Committee counsel William Simon said that in the closed-door session Sarner and Marcus claimed the FHA had sent a letter to them ordering construction of the shopping center. The committee subpoenaed the letter.

Marcus was asked about the letter during the public hearing today. He said he had already answered the question in executive session. Simon reminded Marcus that he was now under oath, but Marcus said he would "let the record speak for itself."

Witness to 'Triangle' Shooting Tells Jury Husband Who Slew Industrialist 'Crazy'

ALLEGAN, Mich., July 12 (AP)—A Chicago undertaker who watched society dentist Kenneth B. Small kill a New York industrialist for stealing his wife's affections testified today he believed "Small must have been crazy."

Small's trial on first-degree murder charges got under way today in this tiny community's 65-year-old courthouse. He is charged with the Memorial Day weekend slaying of Jules Lack, 45, president of New York City's Majestic Air Conditioning Co.

Small's lawyer, Leo Hoffman, is trying to prove Small was temporarily insane after his wife filed suit to divorce him to marry Lack.

The admission that he felt Small insane came from the undertaker, Dennis M. Carroll Jr., under sharp cross-examination by Hoffman. Carroll was a weekend guest who watched Small kill Lack in a summer home overlooking Lake Michigan.

Mrs. Small Dr. Small

Carroll, the fourth state witness to testify, was the first to be cross-examined by Hoffman, one of the state's top trial lawyers. Hoffman asked Carroll if he hadn't told him a day or two after the shooting that Small acted insane. Carroll admitted he had said "Small must have been crazy."

"He was waving a picture of his three children and shouting 'I'm the father of these three'," Carroll said.

Carroll said guests at the home didn't know Mrs. Small was married.

"If we had known of her situation she wouldn't have been invited," he said.

Mrs. Vivian Gates, Chicago divorcee in whose home the shooting occurred, confirmed Carroll's testimony and said if she had known Mrs. Small was to be Lack's "friend" she wouldn't have been invited."

Asked why, Mrs. Gates said, "Because she was married."

In cross-examination, Hoffman again moved the testimony to the alleged insanity angle. Mrs. Gates said Small was calm when he entered the house but she heard him speak in a loud voice just before he shot Lack.

"I never saw a crazy man, but I assume that's the way one would act," she said.

Mrs. Small was a spectator as the trial opened. She told newsmen "my heart aches for my husband."

As the trial got under way it was revealed Small and Hoffman had spurned an offer by the state to plead guilty to manslaughter charges. It was learned Small's family vetoed such a plea from the Detroit dentist "when they found out he could be sent to prison for as long as 15 years on a manslaughter charge."

Shame on You, Ike, For Snubbing Ladies

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—Some of this nation's leading women, a woman said today, are peeved at President Eisenhower. It's because he keeps giving informal stag dinners—and never has one for the ladies.

Blackwell · Davies

Lindbergh · Zaharias

Esther van Wagoner Tufty, a newspaper correspondent and columnist, put it this way on a nationwide television show:

"A lot of American women leaders are reaching the boiling point about those informal stag dinners the President gives from time to time at the White House.

"Some mighty important women are making no secret that they, too, would like to dine and really talk with Mr. Eisenhower."

Mrs. Tufty didn't identify the mighty important women, or say what their boiling points are. But the subject came up as long as seven months ago, at an Eisenhower news conference.

115 GUESTS

Doris Fleeson, who also is a columnist, told the President that he already had had in 115 guests.

"None of these 115 guests," she said "have been women. How do you square that with your anti-discrimination policy?"

Eisenhower laughed and said he had thought about inviting women. But they — he didn't say who "they" were — told him he would have to be very careful because the women couldn't decide who should come.

"Did women tell you that or did men tell you that?"

Yes, exactly, the President said, women told him that. He added that he wouldn't take a man's advice in such a thing.

That didn't stop Mrs. Tufty. She went around to the President's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, she said, and was told the dinners had two purposes:

1. The President likes to get opinions from all over the country.

2. The President likes to try his own opinions, for size, on his distinguished guests.

LADIES LISTED

Mrs. T. wasn't impressed with the idea that Eisenhower couldn't invite any women because he might make some other women mad. She said he has had 30 dinners, that the guest list follows a pattern. And that if the same pattern were used for the ladies it could come out like this:

Senator: Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me).

Administration: Clare Boothe Luce, ambassador to Italy.

Educator: Margaret Clapp, president of Wellesley College.

Author: Margaret Culkin Banning.

Big money: Mrs. Joseph Davies and-or Mrs. Alfred Vanderbilt.

Big name: Mrs. Charles Lindberg.

Golfer: Babe Zaharias.

So there it is. All Eisenhower has to do is set the date and mail the invitations—with one exception. He'll have to pick his own newspaper columnist. Mrs. Tufty modestly left that blank.

Mississippi Plans Vote On Schools

JACKSON, Miss., July 12 (AP) A constitutional amendment allowing public schools to be abolished if necessary to maintain segregation was adopted today by Mississippi's Legal Education Advisory Committee.

A two-thirds vote of the Legislature could wipe out public schools, either statewide or on a county option basis by allowing individual elections in each county.

BUILDING PROGRAM

The committee also recommended to the Legislature that a school building program be started to supply better Negro schools, but only if the constitutional amendment is adopted giving the Legislature a free hand to fight any move to commingle the races.

Gov. Hugh White said he would call the Legislature into special session, probably early in September, to consider the proposed constitutional change.

EXPLAINS CONFLICT

The chief justice said the conflict of wanting to provide whatever help he could to the committee and his duty as a justice was "becoming increasingly embarrassing."

Since he may have to sit as judge on segregation cases, he said he felt it better if he took no part in further work.

The committee was created to find ways of dodging the U. S. Supreme Court decision that outlawed racial segregation in public schools.

Raft Proves a Slow Boat; Ailing 'Sparks' Wants Off

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12 (AP)—Five hungry men on a foodless raft were drifting today 120 miles south of the Golden Gate, still 2,200 miles from their objective, Hawaii, after three days of floating with the ocean currents.

Four were still determined to drift to Hawaii on their box-like 32-foot craft, the Lehi. But the fifth radioed hurry-up calls to "get me off this damned thing."

The amateur sailors, who are catching their own food and manufacturing their own drinking water with a solar still, had reported eating only one salmon and drinking one quart of water since they left San Francisco Friday afternoon. But they turned down a Coast Guard offer for a tow to shore.

"I FEEL LOUSY"

That didn't go for radioman Don Smith of Santa Rosa. He said he had a cold, was coming down with the flu and "I wish someone would get on the ball and do something."

"All of the crew feel fine," he radioed, "except me. I feel lousy."

A relief expedition set out from San Francisco by land and sea to take him off and supply the raft with a new radio and radioman.

The rescue expedition under the trip's sponsor, Dr. Arthur B. Fearon, planned to charter a boat in Monterey for the sea-going part of their trip, and perhaps also tow the Lehi farther out to sea to catch the ocean currents. The raft wallowed in the coastal current that kept it relatively close to shore.

SPOTTED BY PLANE

Coast Guard officials said a radio exchange with the raft showed it was not in need of assistance and required no further attention from the Coast Guard at this time.

Aside from Smith, the Lehi's crew plans to drift southward with the currents until they catch the westward ocean stream which they think will carry them to Hawaii. The box-like raft has a sail and two outboard motors for emergency power, but skipper Devere Baker, 38, of Petaluma, Calif., is relying on the currents to take them where they want to go.

Queen To Present Medals in November

LONDON, July 12 —Buckingham Palace said today Queen Elizabeth II will hold investitures—to bestow medals and other honors—Nov. 2, 9 and 16.

Investitures seldom are announced so far in advance.

There was speculation that the palace did so this time to dispel rumors that the Queen is expecting a third child.

Reds Win Key French Fort City

HANOI, July 12 (AP)—The Communists reported today that their forces closing in on Hanoi had captured the fortress city of Son Tay anchoring the French Union defenses 24 miles to the west.

On the other side of the capital, 3,000 Reds smashed at Hung Yen, lower cornerpost of the delta lines. They were beaten off and 300 were killed in five hours of violent combat. But the ultimate fate of the town 24 miles southeast of Hanoi was uncertain.

Guerrilla raiders struck within six miles of Hanoi. Both sides suffered "substantial losses" when a French commando force clashed with the rebels.

The gunfire could be heard plainly in the rain drenched capital, where garrison forces were preparing for siege and civilians struggled to get out.

The Viet Minh radio broadcast word of the capture of Son Tay, sprawling city controlling transport over a trunk highway running west and a little north of Hanoi.

The report lacked immediate confirmation. But the high command reported brisk skirmishing in the area. Newsmen who visited Son Tay over the weekend found it almost deserted.

Seems He Never Had It So Good

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J., July 12 (AP)—An ex-soldier who allegedly has been living off the Army at Camp Kilmer for a month was arrested there today by FBI agents.

The FBI said Richard Brown, 18, of Norwich, Conn., was discharged from the Army last February, but returned to Camp Kilmer in early June, put on a uniform every day, and ate and slept at the sprawling separation center.

AEC Okays $10 Million Power Step

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission today announced approval of a $10,000,000 project designed as a new step toward the perfection of a central station which can produce cheap electric power from an atomic furnace.

AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss said in a news release that the project will consist of developing and constructing the nation's first sodium graphite reactor. The AEC and North American Aviation, Inc., of Los Angeles, will do the work jointly.

The reactor, or atomic furnace—in which chain reaction resulting from sustained fission of atoms takes place—will be an experimental, reduced scale model which North American Aviation is designing.

Today on Peachtree

Knees in the breeze

This we saw last week—not once, but twice: A dapper gent strolling down Peachtree and a hulking football-hero sort of character—both wearing the new, baring Walking Shorts. If this had happened even a year ago, some sensitive maiden lady might have called out the Reserves. But now, this smart and sensible fashion worn not so long ago by only the upper-crusted International set has taken over not only in the suburbs and at resorts; not only in country clubs where the oldest members (Haarumph!) vowed they'd never be seen — but now (mirabile dictu!) they're getting a respectable kneehold in skyscraper districts all over the U. S. A. Yes—even on Peachtree. By next Summer tycoons will likely wear them to their offices without getting so much as a lifted eyebrow. Right now, Davison's Men's Store, Street Floor, has 'em in everything from back-yard denims and cotton plaids to citified gabardines, linens and cords. Priced 3.95 to 6.95 per pair.

Thank you!

Dolls across the sea

This is strictly for the girls—teen age, 13 to 19. It's an exclusive news flash to you about Seventeen magazine's 1954 Save-the-Children-Federation Doll Contest. The ingredients are simple: a man's white sock and a rubber doll face. You pay 25c (the price of an ice-cream soda) for the doll kit; thread your needle, shift your imagination into high and whip up a beautiful doll that may turn out to be Scarlett O'Hara, or a cuddly baby. And next Christmas your doll will be clasped ecstatically to the bosom of a little 'mother' in Italy, West Germany, Austria, Finland, Greece, France or England. Chances are it will be the first doll this little girl ever owned! In Seventeen's big nationwide contest, your doll may win you a week-end whirl in New York—or even a Grand Tour to Europe. It may be the tiny seed that will blossom into international friendship. The very least it can get you is a lot of fun and a warm glow in the heart. Take home your doll kit today from Davison's Youth Centre, Street Floor.

Sir Winston Helps To Clear the Air

There isn't much of a gulf between Dwight D. Eisenhower, and Winston Churchill after all. The British leader was at his best in the House of Commons yesterday when he said that Britain favors admission of Red China only after the Peiping regime has proved itself willing to forswear aggression and to abide by international agreements.

This, in essence, is about what Harry Truman and Dean Acheson were saying—and what President Eisenhower and John Foster Dulles now are saying. They all have asked proof of intentions.

His words help dispel, in his own country and ours, some of the anxiety which has remained since his Washington meeting with President Eisenhower.

He served a good purpose, too, in reminding France that the European Defense Community which she has so far refused to ratify, was her dwn idea. The only alternative, he said, was to rearm Germany as an independent force and this neither he nor France wished.

Another voice was raised in behalf of common sense on Monday. At Bolton Landing, N. Y., where the 46th annual governor's conference is being held, South Carolina's James F. Byrnes advocated the return of this country's top leadership to the Geneva conference where international leadership "face" and prestige may go to the Communists by default if we are absent.

Governor Byrnes, former secretary of state, said we cannot afford the risk of remaining aloof.

He, too, subscribes to the Churchillian axiom that "talk, talk" is better than "war, war."

Yesterday afternoon Secretary Dulles flew to Paris to discuss the Indochina negotiations with British and French leaders. He owes it to the nation to go on to Geneva to offer some proof of America's intention not to surrender world leadership to the Russians.

The Phenix City Story Is an Old, Old Pattern

Let all citizens take careful note of the continuing revelations at Phenix City, Ala. Each exposure is a little more revolting than the preceding one and all of them add up to a lesson in civic vigilance for any and all communities.

Tolerance to vice and crime because they offer temporary profits is a fatal sort of indulgence. One such indulgence leads to another and eventually we have the climax—murder and violence, which Phenix City has now experienced.

Cancerous conditions such as have existed at Phenix City for a number of years cannot be confined to one locality. Allowed to grow, they reach out in an ever-widening circle. Disclosures to date show the tentacles of vice reaching out from the town, even making attempts to invade Georgia.

Let all cities and towns observe Phenix City in its struggle to escape from the stranglehold of hoodlums. It could have been avoided had the decent people of the community acted together in the beginning.

An Alert South America Can Stymie Dictators

The United States of America has its Fourth of July. But by no means does it have a monopoly on "Independence Days."

During the month four South American republics celebrate their freedom, along with their Northern Hemisphere neighbor.

For Venezuela the "Fourth of July" was on July 5. The Argentinians observed Independence Day on the 9th; Colombia will mark its birth of freedom on July 20 and Peru on July 28.

Starting early in the 19th century, Spain lost her grip in the new world. One by one, the provinces broke from under the iron fist of the Conquistadores and set up their own governments.

The story of the revolutions in the Hispanic-American areas is a thrilling one. The rebellious peoples had their Paul Reveres and their Nathan Hales. They had their San Martin, that "Hannibal of the Andes" who marched and countermarched his men through mountain passes to free his own nation and carry the revolt up the western coast.

Colombia's George Washington was Simon Bolivar. But unlike the Father of Our Country, the Colombian liberator was a swashbuckling "man on horseback" who doted on pomp and power and triumphal marches.

For our South American neighbors the road to self-government has not been easy. In some cases the goals have not been fully achieved. In others there have been throwbacks to totalitarianism.

But in the main for more than a century the Hispanic-American world has been free from European domination, a desirable status our neighbors attained largely through their own efforts.

It is well that they along with us observe an annual "Independence Day" as a reminder of what that freedom has cost. Unless they, like we, are ever on guard, the Conquistadore will come back, wearing not spurs, but a hammer and sickle.

Irrigation Could Stop Millions in Crop Losses

The scattered rains over the state during the past week were effective. They were, however, not enough to alleviate the drought conditions that have already damaged some crops in certain areas by more than 50 per cent. Losses probably will run into millions and will increase with each rainless day.

These drought losses have been fairly recurrent through the years. In fact, almost every year certain areas suffer from a "dry" season that cuts down production and hence farmers' profits.

For years farm leaders have talked of the possibilities of irrigation. If the millions that have been lost to droughts had been used to build irrigation systems, water would have been much less of a problem today.

Storage of water during the rainy seasons for use when needed in periods of drought now seems an absolute necessity for the economic health of Georgia agriculture.

Mills B. Lane Jr., head of the Citizens and Southern National Banks, recently disclosed that plans are being studied for banks to finance irrigation systems for Georgia farmers. It is estimated that yields can be increased by approximately 30 per cent during normal years and crops saved from destruction in dry years.

Banks, the farmers and state leaders should turn their attention to this nagging problem. If irrigation is practical, and it has proved so through centuries, adaptable methods for Georgia should be sought and put to use. It would add terrifically to farm income and would help to keep the state's agricultural economy on a more even keel.

A Particle From Space Destroys More Illusions

As recently as a quarter century ago high school textbooks taught that matter could neither be created nor destroyed. The atom was believed to be the smallest division of matter and could not be broken.

These apparently had been established as laws of science and on the basis of available evidence appeared to be true. Today many of these early beliefs seem as crazy as medieval superstitions.

The atom has been torn apart and supposedly changeless elements have been made into something entirely different. Science is on the verge of discovering means of converting into energy every element of matter known.

The other day scientists disclosed evidence of a force which can annihilate the basic material of all earthly substances. A particle from outer space reacted on a film pack in the stratosphere in such a way as to offer proof that earthly matter can be converted into energy and then reconverted into another form of matter.

To the layman this all sounds like strange jargon. But in reality it means that all earthly matter can be converted into energy for the use of the human race. It also means that mankind has a potential for his own destruction heretofore unsuspected—much, much greater than the hydrogen bomb.

Mankind will eventually harness the forces that will banish poverty and many other evils from the earth—unless he destroys all the human race in the process. The race between Utopia and destruction is grim indeed.

Judge Samuel Sibley Continues to Serve

A great Georgian had his 81st birthday Monday. He is Judge Samuel H. Sibley.

You can rest assured that Judge Sibley observed the occasion as quietly and unobtrusively and as usefully as he has lived. On Sunday he taught his Sunday school class at the First Presbyterian Church in Marietta, as he has almost every Sunday for the last 30 years. On his birthday he worked in his shop, on a bookcase to hold some "old law books."

Scholar and philosopher, brilliant attorney and outstanding jurist, teacher and counselor, Judge Sam Sibley has made, and continues to make, a great contribution to his state and to his people.

The Constitution extends birthday felicitations, belated though they may be. May the good judge's health be no worse than tolerable and the returns of the day as many as he desires.

Leasing Golf Links to Private Organizations Urged to Settle Problem Legally and Justly

Americus—Before too many people get "all het up" about this matter of mixed use of Atlanta's public golf links, let's settle the matter correctly, adequately and legally by having the City of Atlanta lease the present site of golf links to private clubs or individuals and let these individuals or clubs administer the property as they may wish.

The leases could, if this be decided to be best for the different races, be divided between organizations or individuals pledged to operate the links, following execution of proper leases, for use exclusively by either whites or Negroes.

If decent respect for the rights of both races be exercised in making such proposed leases, there could be no further ground for complaint by either race.

Let's just go ahead, be fair to the Negro as a unit of the population of Georgia and settle existing disturbed conditions regarding the future of whites and Negroes alike in the Empire State of the South.

Thought Control Used In Totalitarian States

Senoia — The proposal by Roy Harris that social, political and economic ostracism be used against white Georgians who favor obeying the law as laid down by the Supreme Court in the segregation decision has fascinating possibilities in other fields.

While thought control is not in accordance with Democratic traditions and processes, it has worked very effectively in totalitarian countries.

Right to Work Law Called a Free Ride

Marietta—I would like to assure Norman Cooke that better labor relations will never be achieved by "right to work" bills, as all good Americans have no use for free riders.

If a man doesn't want to belong to a union, why does he not work in a non-union plant or shop, where the pay isn't so good? The truth is he is a dead beat of a sort.

Ike Plea Rejected On Jobless Benefits

WASHINGTON—History is repeating itself in Congress on the issue of unemployment benefits. This takes us back around the end of the Second World War when an attempt was made in Congress, on recommendations of then President Truman, to increase the amount of unemployment benefits and extend their duration under a federal law that would provide uniform standards for the whole country. It was presented as an emergency measure, to last for two years, because of forecasts by government economists of largescale unemployment in the transition from a war to a peace time economy.

Congress, however, refused to comply, defeating the Truman proposal through the familiar Republican-Southern Conservative Democratic coalition. Nor did the unemployment emergency develop, and thereafter the issue raised by Mr. Truman subsided.

It is being raised again now and accentuated by current unemployment. The specific occasion is consideration by Congress of that part of President Eisenhower's social welfare program for extending unemployment insurance to cover Federal Government workers and employes of small businesses now exempted. The President also urged uniform duration of benefits of 26 weeks all over the country, the range now being from 16 to 26½ weeks, and an increase in payments to between 60 and 67 per cent of the average wage in a state, but not less than 50 per cent of the individual worker.

But, unlike President Truman, he recommended that these standards be applied by the states, themselves, which have jurisdiction under our existing law, instead of by federal statute. Secretary of Labor Mitchell sent messages to state governors weeks ago appealing for their adoption of the President's recommendations.

Nothing has happened.

Because of the failure of the states to act, and because of the still sizeable unemployment, a move was made in the House last week by a Democrat, Rep. Forand (R.I.), to write into federal law on a uniform basis the duration of payments and their amount which President Eisenhower had recommended, but failed to get, in the states.

The Forand scale would mean weekly benefits ranging from $32 to $56, varying with the state, as compared with a present range of $20 to $33. He submitted his proposal as an amendment to the administration bill extending unemployment benefit coverage. It was defeated, 241 to 110.

The House thereafter passed the administration bill that extends unemployment compensation to Federal Government workers and businesses that employ four or more persons.

Again, as in the case of the Truman proposals a decade ago, it was the familiar Republican-Southern Democratic coalition that defeated liberalized unemployment benefits. Against Rep. Forand's amendment were 173 Republicans and 68 Democrats, the latter mostly from the South. Supporting it were 93 Democrats, chiefly from the East and Far West, and 16 Republicans, the latter mostly from the industrial East. However, eight Southern Democrats—four of them from Alabama—and eight border state Democrats supported the Rhode Island legislator.

The argument most used, as with the Truman proposal, was states rights. Opponents of a federal standard insisted that the system must be preserved as a state system with states fixing the rates of benefit and duration.

Unfortunately, economic "readjustments" seem to recognize no state boundaries.

Habit Returns, For Good or Bad

For good or bad, this column business is habit forming. It's like the Methodist preacher said of sermons on his retirement after 50 years in the ministry. The quote is from "Dig Or Die, Brother Hyde" (Harper Bros., New York), the autobiography of a pioneer preacher. Good reading, by the way, for vacation or otherwise. "Life seemed off center without a Sunday sermon around which to pivot activities," the Rev. W. L. Hyde said after a half century of sermon preparation. "What was the point in reading, in studying, in thinking, if it didn't result in a sermon."

It's the same way with a column and time off therefrom.

After 351 days of steady production, a two-week hiatus does not mean that one breaks off thinking in terms of the daily essay any more than a man no longer thinks of cigarettes simply because he has stopped smoking.

These things I saw and heard and mentally memoed on a tour down the Buccaneer Trail to St. Augustine, Fla., and back home via the Suwannee River crossing: No wonder tourists from down East get a drab impression of Georgia. There's nothing bright about U.S. Highway 17 from Savannah south through our state. But at the Florida line the route begins to shine with a "Welcome, Traveler!" . . . Sign at "jungle zoo" on U.S. 17, "Alligators, Beer and Sodas, Monkeys." . . . The past and the future in conflict at St. Augustine where the coming industrial attraction, a Fairchild aircraft plant, is disturbing the even tenor of the way in the 400-year-old city. . . .

Marineland, a place where fish catch people, by the thousands and at two bucks a throw. Yet no one is a sucker. . . . Even at Silver Springs, the litterbug has left his sign. Through the plate glass in the bottom of the boat, one sees on the bed of the river, besides catfish, pop bottles, an occasional empty can and other debris. But the Silver River is a navigable stream open to private boats of less than 50 feet and the management at the "Springs" can not exercise complete control over the traffic. The public will be the "public." . . .

The ubiquitous mosquito reminding one that the name comes from the Spanish mosquito, the French mosca and the Italian musca all meaning "fly." "Mosquito" means trouble in any language. The word "musket" is a derivation from the original. Given a land breeze, the Florida variety can come in double-barreled. . . .

Then there was the old-timer mosquito at the beach that sighed and said to a young friend, "I can remember when we could bite girls only on the face and the hands."

Nation in Doldrums Of Negative Policy

WASHINGTON—The emphasis in Washington for the time being is on the negative. There are, of course, many exceptions, but in general the Government seems to be acting as if more progress can be made by stopping bad things than by doing good things.

The news this week has been dominated by what we don't like or won't do. We don't like Red China, and we won't let them in the United Nations. We don't like people who like Red China, and we may quit the U.N. if they don't do what we say.

We don't like the British, and we don't like the French, and to judge by the Senate debate on what the Republicans think of Mr. Acheson and what the Democrats think of Mr. Dulles, we're not overly fond of each other.

It is an astonishing paradox. The United States is giving and the Soviet Union is taking away; democracy is a hopeful, positive searching thing and communism a backward tyranny; the democracies offer freedom and progress and the Communists, slavery — yet the free world is on the defensive, unable to articulate its own affirmative ideals.

One incident will illustrate the problem. The last bold imaginative move by the United States in the field of foreign affairs was the President's proposal for the creation of an international pool of atomic energy to be used for peaceful purposes.

We agreed to discuss it privately with the Russians. These discussions dragged on for months, during which nothing was said to the world. In due course, Moscow gave it the brush-off, but we don't know yet what happened. Somebody here said something the other day about reviving it without the Russians, but nothing has come of the project that was supposed to have captured that elusive "initiative."

The British see in the atomic race the prospect of another industrial revolution as momentous as the coal-steam-electricity revolution of the 19th century, and our officials and Congressmen are precisely conscious of the possibilities, too. But what are they doing?

They are stopping bad things. They are building blank walls beween Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer and the government. They are seeing to it on Capitol Hill that the Atomic Energy Commission takes no chances on exchanging atomic information with the Allies, and that the President himself is given very little discretion in this field.

Also, they are administering the McCarran - Walter Immigration Act, which makes it almost impossible for the United States to hold a representative world scientific conference in the United States, let alone to mobilize the brains for that new atomic industrial revolution.

The problem is not to abandon the present atomic arms program or the harsh McCarran-Walter Immigration Act, or the security risk system—to forget about stopping bad things—but to balance the punitive with the affirmative, and especially to learn how to articulate the affirmative.

The Question of Sin Has Simple Answer

"God hath made man upright; but they have sought out many inventions" (Ecclesiastes 7:29).

The last word of the text has been variously translated to read "devices" and "contrivances." Moffatt's version reads: "God made the race of man upright, but many a cunning wile have they contrived."

The story of Creation gives a succession of scenes in God's fashioning of His world and the creatures who were made to inhabit it. 'And God saw everything that he had made, and, behold, it was very good"(Genesis 1:31).

The world, as the mind of the Eternal conceived it, was good. Man, the child of God's imaginings, was created upright and perfect. Man was given an independent will that he might determine the paths he would follow. Many men have pursued the way of God and have lived according to the law of God.

Many, however, have rejected God and have manufactured codes of behaviour which are not God-like. These inventions, devices and contrivances of man are sins. A sin is behaviour which violates the law of God.

Is a certain behaviour sinful or not? There is only one standard of judgment. Does the behaviour alienate one's relation to God. It does not really matter if that behaviour is lawful or unlawful by the legislative standards of the community or if behaviour is acceptable or unacceptable by the standards of the church one attends. If you feel that somehow or in some way that behaviour removes the life of God from your life, then no matter what others may say, that behaviour is for you sinful.

We frequently hear the words "small sin" and "great sin." I wonder if there is as much difference between great and little sins as we sometimes think, or if, rather, we make designations such as this more to gloss over our troubled consciences.

We say, for instance, that any violation of the Ten Commandments is a great sin, and so it is. But the thief and the murderer are apprehended and their violations against man and God are brought to an end. A murderer is punished and he does not continue to take life.

But is not the harmony of the community and the peace of the home as much violated by small sins such as malicious gossip, intemperance, hardheadedness, self-centeredness? Who is to say that the small sins in the long run do not inflict as many scars as the great sins?

God our Maker gave to each of us minds and hearts that we may ourselves determine wherein we serve and save our fellow men and wherein we corrupt and destroy community life. That which corrupts is wrong; that which serves is righteous. The question of what is sin is as simple and yet as profound as that.

French Seek U.S. Blessing on 'Deal'

WASHINGTON—America's "agonizing reappraisal" of the world situation is not far away. The trip of Secretary of State Dulles to Paris at this time is one of the first moves in the process.

It will be recalled that Mr. Dulles several months ago warned the French that, unless the European Defense Community were ratified, the United States would have to make "an agonizing reappraisal" of its world policies.

No clarifying definition was ever supplied, but it has been generally believed that, if France and Britain pursued policies that isolated the United States, it would become necessary to re-examine America's past policies and assumptions as well.

There is at present a far-reaching crisis in world affairs.

The French Cabinet realizes it is defeated in Indochina and is preparing some form of surrender. But it wants an American blessing to be given to the so-called "settlement," so it will seem more palatable to the French people.

Great Britain is trying to side with France but also wants a cue from America as to what to do.

The United States government replied last Friday that it could not see the wisdom of sending a top-level official back to Geneva, because America would have to speak its mind plainly and in the end this could complicate matters for the French if they were really bent on surrendering or appeasing or retreating — whatever the descriptive phrase for ending the Indochina war on the enemy's terms really is.

But the French felt badly about America's absention and again urged that someone from the Department of State come to talk things over. So Mr. Dulles conferred with President Eisenhower on Monday of this week and decided that, as a courtesy to the French, the best thing to do was for the secretary of state to fly to Paris and hold conferences there. Whether or not Mr. Dulles goes on to Geneva — an hour away from Paris by plane—depends on what tangible results crop up at the Swiss center of diplomatic effort.

Meanwhile, Mr. Churchill emphasized in his report to the House of Commons the deep-seated fear that he has about the H-bomb. This subject is bound to influence world policy more and more as the stories of terror, some of them innocently spread and others deliberately exaggerated, are distributed with the possible result that the "will to fight" in France and Britain will be paralyzed. If Britain and France are to be neutral because of the H-bomb, America's whole strategy in getting and keeping allies in Asia and Europe may have to be completely revised.

23 Promoted by Atlanta Schools

Twenty-three members of the instructional staff of the Atlanta school system received promotions Monday night as the Board of Education prepared for opening of the 1954-55 school year.

Board members followed recommendations of Miss Ira Jarrell, school superintendent, in naming two new departmental directors and in electing or transferring 21 principals. Miss Jarrell said the shifts comprise the largest number in the system's history.

NEW DEMANDS

Asst. Supt. Roy Davis said the personnel "represents the best group of executives ever named to Atlanta schools."

The board also received a report from Albert D. Jones, newly elected director of club activities, and a report from Jarvis Barnes, director of research and pupil personnel, showing that thousands of new homes are being constructed in all parts of the city and that already overtaxed school facilities will be further strained when the new term begins.

"Every one of the new designations is a promotion and was made after each of the recipients agreed," Miss Jarrell said. "They all have cooperated and every one of them is worthy and deserving of the recognition accorded."

Mrs. Ruth Satterfield, principal of Samuel Inman School, will become director of personnel after rules are changed at the next board session.

Mark Huie, assistant director of research and personnel, will become director of instruction.

SALUTE GRANDDAD

The board also:

1. Congratulated Fourth Ward board member Franklin Rodgers on his "becoming a grandfather again." A granddaughter arrived at Piedmont Hospital while the grandfather attended the board session.

2. Asked the Third Army to increase ROTC allocations for Atlanta schools so that units can be established at Negro schools.

Other shifts are:

Mrs. Maris Smart, 7th grade teacher at Kirkwood, transferred as principal of Pryor St. School; Mrs. Celia Nash, principal of Slaton School, principal of Kirkwood; E. B. Brown, supervisor of instruction, principal of O'Keefe; Dr. Ed S. Cook Jr., principal of Luckie St., principal of Inman succeeding Mrs. Satterfield; Miss Caroline Hall, 7th grade teacher at Haygood, principal of Luckie; Clyde Kimball, social science teacher at West Fulton, principal of Benteen.

Miss Lydia Guice, principal at Beeteen, principal of Guice, J. P. Walls, counselor at Southwest High, principal of Gilbert; Roger Derthick, principal of Forrest, principal of new Cleveland Ave.; James P. Fain, principal of Clark Howell, principal of Ragsdale; Maxwell Ivey, physical education teacher and coach at Murphy High School, principal of Slaton; Miss Mary Waddey, principal at Formalt, principal of Burgess; Wesley H. Cook, visiting counselor, principal of Formwalt; Mrs. Juliette P. Maxwell, 6th grade teacher at Spring, principal of Clark Howell; Miss Vera Keith, 7th grade teacher at Faith, principal of Lakewood; Cecil Barr, acting principal of Smith-Hughes Evening to become principal; Ben Gibson, social science teacher at Hoke Smith, transferred to the City Hall to work with E. L. Floyd in liaison between schools and colleges.

The following changes also were ordered for Negro schools:

Bronchial Tube Of Girl Yields Watermelon Seed

Janice Boatrite of Carrollton, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Boatrite, was admitted to Ponce de Leon Infirmary Monday with a watermelon seed in a bronchial tube. Doctors removed the seed by using a bronchoscope and forceps.

Jance was reported in "good" condition, but will remain at the hospital several days.

THE PERFECT REASON TO BUY A PONTIAC RIGHT NOW!

NOW—ENJOY THE NEWEST, MOST MODERN AIR-CONDITIONING ON THE ROAD!

When you buy an air-conditioned car, get the best! Get a Pontiac—the one car that offers you air-conditioning* with Constant-Comfort Control!

HOW COOL DO YOU WANT TO BE? Cool as a cucumber? Cool as the mountain dew? Cool as ice . . . well, almost?

That's just the beauty of Pontiac's exclusive, sure-to-be-copied "Up-Front" Air-Conditioning System. You can choose the degree of coolness you want—and maintain it—all because of Constant-Comfort Control! Here's what that means to you:

Pontiac's Air-Conditioning System draws in great volumes of oxygen-laden outside air—gets rid of stale, "used-up" and smoke-laden air inside the car. Then—obeying the command you give in setting the simple instrument-panel control—it automatically refrigerates the air to give you just the temperature you want for really refreshing comfort. And that goes for any weather, any time, any temperature, the demands of any driver or any mood he's in—summer, fall, spring and even winter in this part of the country. Even when you stop for a light, a fan keeps pulling in volumes of cooling air!

SO YOU'RE ALWAYS COOL AS YOU LIKE. But you needn't get too cold either! Unlike some other systems, Pontiac's modern Air-Conditioning holds the temperature you want . . . doesn't keep getting colder and colder and colder until you finally have to turn off the system or open windows to "de-chill" yourself and get comfortable again.

Constant Humidity Control, Too!

As you well know, humidity in the air is important to your comfort, too. Pontiac Air-Conditioning takes care of that "mugginess" by condensing and draining away the excess humidity in the air before it enters the passenger compartment—cooled and "dried" to your liking!

If these hot, humid days have you dreaming of driving an air-conditioned car, by all means let us demonstrate the exclusive advantages of Pontiac's thoroughly engineered and proved system. Pontiac is the very lowest-priced car of all full-sized, family automobiles in which you can enjoy the cool comfort of air-conditioning.

ADD THAT SATISFYING FACT to Pontiac's fine-car size and beauty, big-car power and performance, and the luxury and dependability Pontiac is famous for—all at a price right next to the very lowest—and you have a perfect reason for buying a Pontiac right now! We'd be happy to demonstrate any time you say. Enjoy today the air-conditioning of tomorrow.

*Optional at extra cost.

More Important Advantages of Pontiac's Advanced "Up-Front Air-Conditioning System":

YOU DON'T SACRIFICE ANY TRUNK ROOM! All of the ingeniously engineered parts in Pontiac's Air-Conditioning System fit compactly under the hood and right front fender. Your Pontiac's roomy luggage compartment stays roomy; none of that important utility space is used. Easy accessibility means economical servicing, too.

YOU DON'T SACRIFICE ANY REAR VISION! Cooled air enters through attractive ducts on the instrument panel at the front of the car. Therefore, your rear window vision is perfectly clear and you enjoy full head room in the rear seat.

YOU DON'T SACRIFICE ANY BEAUTY! Consequently, Pontiac's new Air-Conditioning System requires no exterior fittings of any kind. Outside air flows in naturally through hidden scoops behind the grille.

YOU DON'T SACRIFICE ANY COMFORT! Because air flows naturally from front to rear, it always circulates evenly throughout the car. Both front- and rear-seat passengers are cooled quickly. And you can adjust air inlets to direct the flow of cooled air where you want it: right at you for quickest "cool-off", or deflected up, down or across the car.

YOU DON'T SACRIFICE ANY FRESH AIR! Pontiac's Air-Conditioning System draws in a constant flow of refreshing outside air only. Smoke, odors and just plain stale air are exhausted; never recirculated for you to breathe again.

YOU DON'T SACRIFICE ANY USE! Yes, because Pontiac's unique Air-Conditioning System has "Constant-Comfort Control", you can use it to increase your comfort in every season . . . whether the outside temperature is 75° or 105°!

NEW WARD AND PRECINCT

Under the Legislative Act of 1953 reducing the elective membership of the Atlanta City Government and reducing the number of wards, the same necessitated a change in ward and precinct boundaries. Most citizens will vote in the same places, but where boundaries have changed, there will be a consequent change of voting places. Please examine this map to see if your precinct has been changed. It applies to all elections in the future.

INFORMATION ON BOND ELECTION JULY 14, 1954

The election is for a total of $10,000,000 in bonds, bearing interest at 2½%. The issuance of these bonds will not cause any tax increase. The way this is accomplished is by putting the maturity or due dates of said bonds into the years when our present bond retirement funds are very light. By scattering the retirement dates into these years, we are able to set up approximately the same amount of money for interest and retirements each year without increasing the tax rate.
This bond issue is for some of the pressing interim needs of the City such as schools, sewers, local street improvement, land and buildings.

It is divided as follows:

$5,000,000 for schools

$2,000,00 for sewers

$2,000,000 for street improvements

$1,000,000 for municipal buildings and land adjacent thereto.

$5,000,000 School Bonds

Atlanta could use much more, but it was figured that this amount will carry the School Department along for the next few years. The Board of Education estimates that by September of 1955, they will need 452 additional classrooms, occasioning a total of $13 million in construction funds, but the above amount of $5 million will alleviate some of their most pressing needs. The Board of Education has great need for replacement of obsolete buildings and renovation of existing buildings. Also, it is faced not only with increasing population, but shifting population due to the creation of new subdivisions and housing projects, and the building of expressways. The Board has gone over its plans with various civic, labor and school leaders and P.T.A. organizations, and will expend the money fairly as between the races and in accordance with the greatest need.

$2,000,000 Sewer Bonds

No city can be any larger than its sewer and waterworks system. Sanitation is the first requirement of every civilized community. Atlanta could, in reality, use ten times more sewer bonds, but this amount is intended for the most pressing needs. It is made necessary by the tremendous growth of our city, new population and new subdivisions, which, in turn, put additional burdens on the disposal plants and require new sewer lines, especially in the annexed areas.

$2,000,000 Street Bonds

This sum is for the doing of certain necessary local street and highway work not connected with the general expressway system. The major highways and expressways are the subject of City, County, State and Federal participation, but there are still local streets which the City should improve with local funds. The Board of Aldermen has pledged that this money will be used for the creation of a badly needed new highway along the general route of West View Drive on the western side of the city; for the widening of Mitchell Street from the West By-Pass into the downtown area so as to promote the smooth flow of traffic off the By-Pass (Northside Drive) into the downtown area; for the extension of Tenth Street by widening and procuring rights-of-way so as to create at least one badly needed through east-west boulevard in this area; and also for City funds necessary to be contributed to the Moreland Avenue Underpass.
The amount set up may not be sufficient to fully complete all of these projects (with the exception of the Moreland Avenue Underpass), but will insure a beginning in the acquisition of vitally needed rights-of-way before the same become impossible to obtain.

$1,000,000 Municipal Building Bonds

These funds are for the purpose of enlarging the police station, both in building and badly needed parking space; and for the acquisition of additional land at another location for the building and equipping of a municipal court, with adequate parking facilities. This will enable the moving of the Traffic Division of the Municipal Court and the Violations Bureau to a place where good citizens need not come in contact with a criminal atmosphere in disposing of traffic cases. This is in line with the recommendations of all traffic commissions which have studied this problem.
The enlargement and renovation of the police station is in line with the Plan of Improvement in order to store police cars, wrecked cars hauled off the street, and to take care of additional police burdens of a growing city.

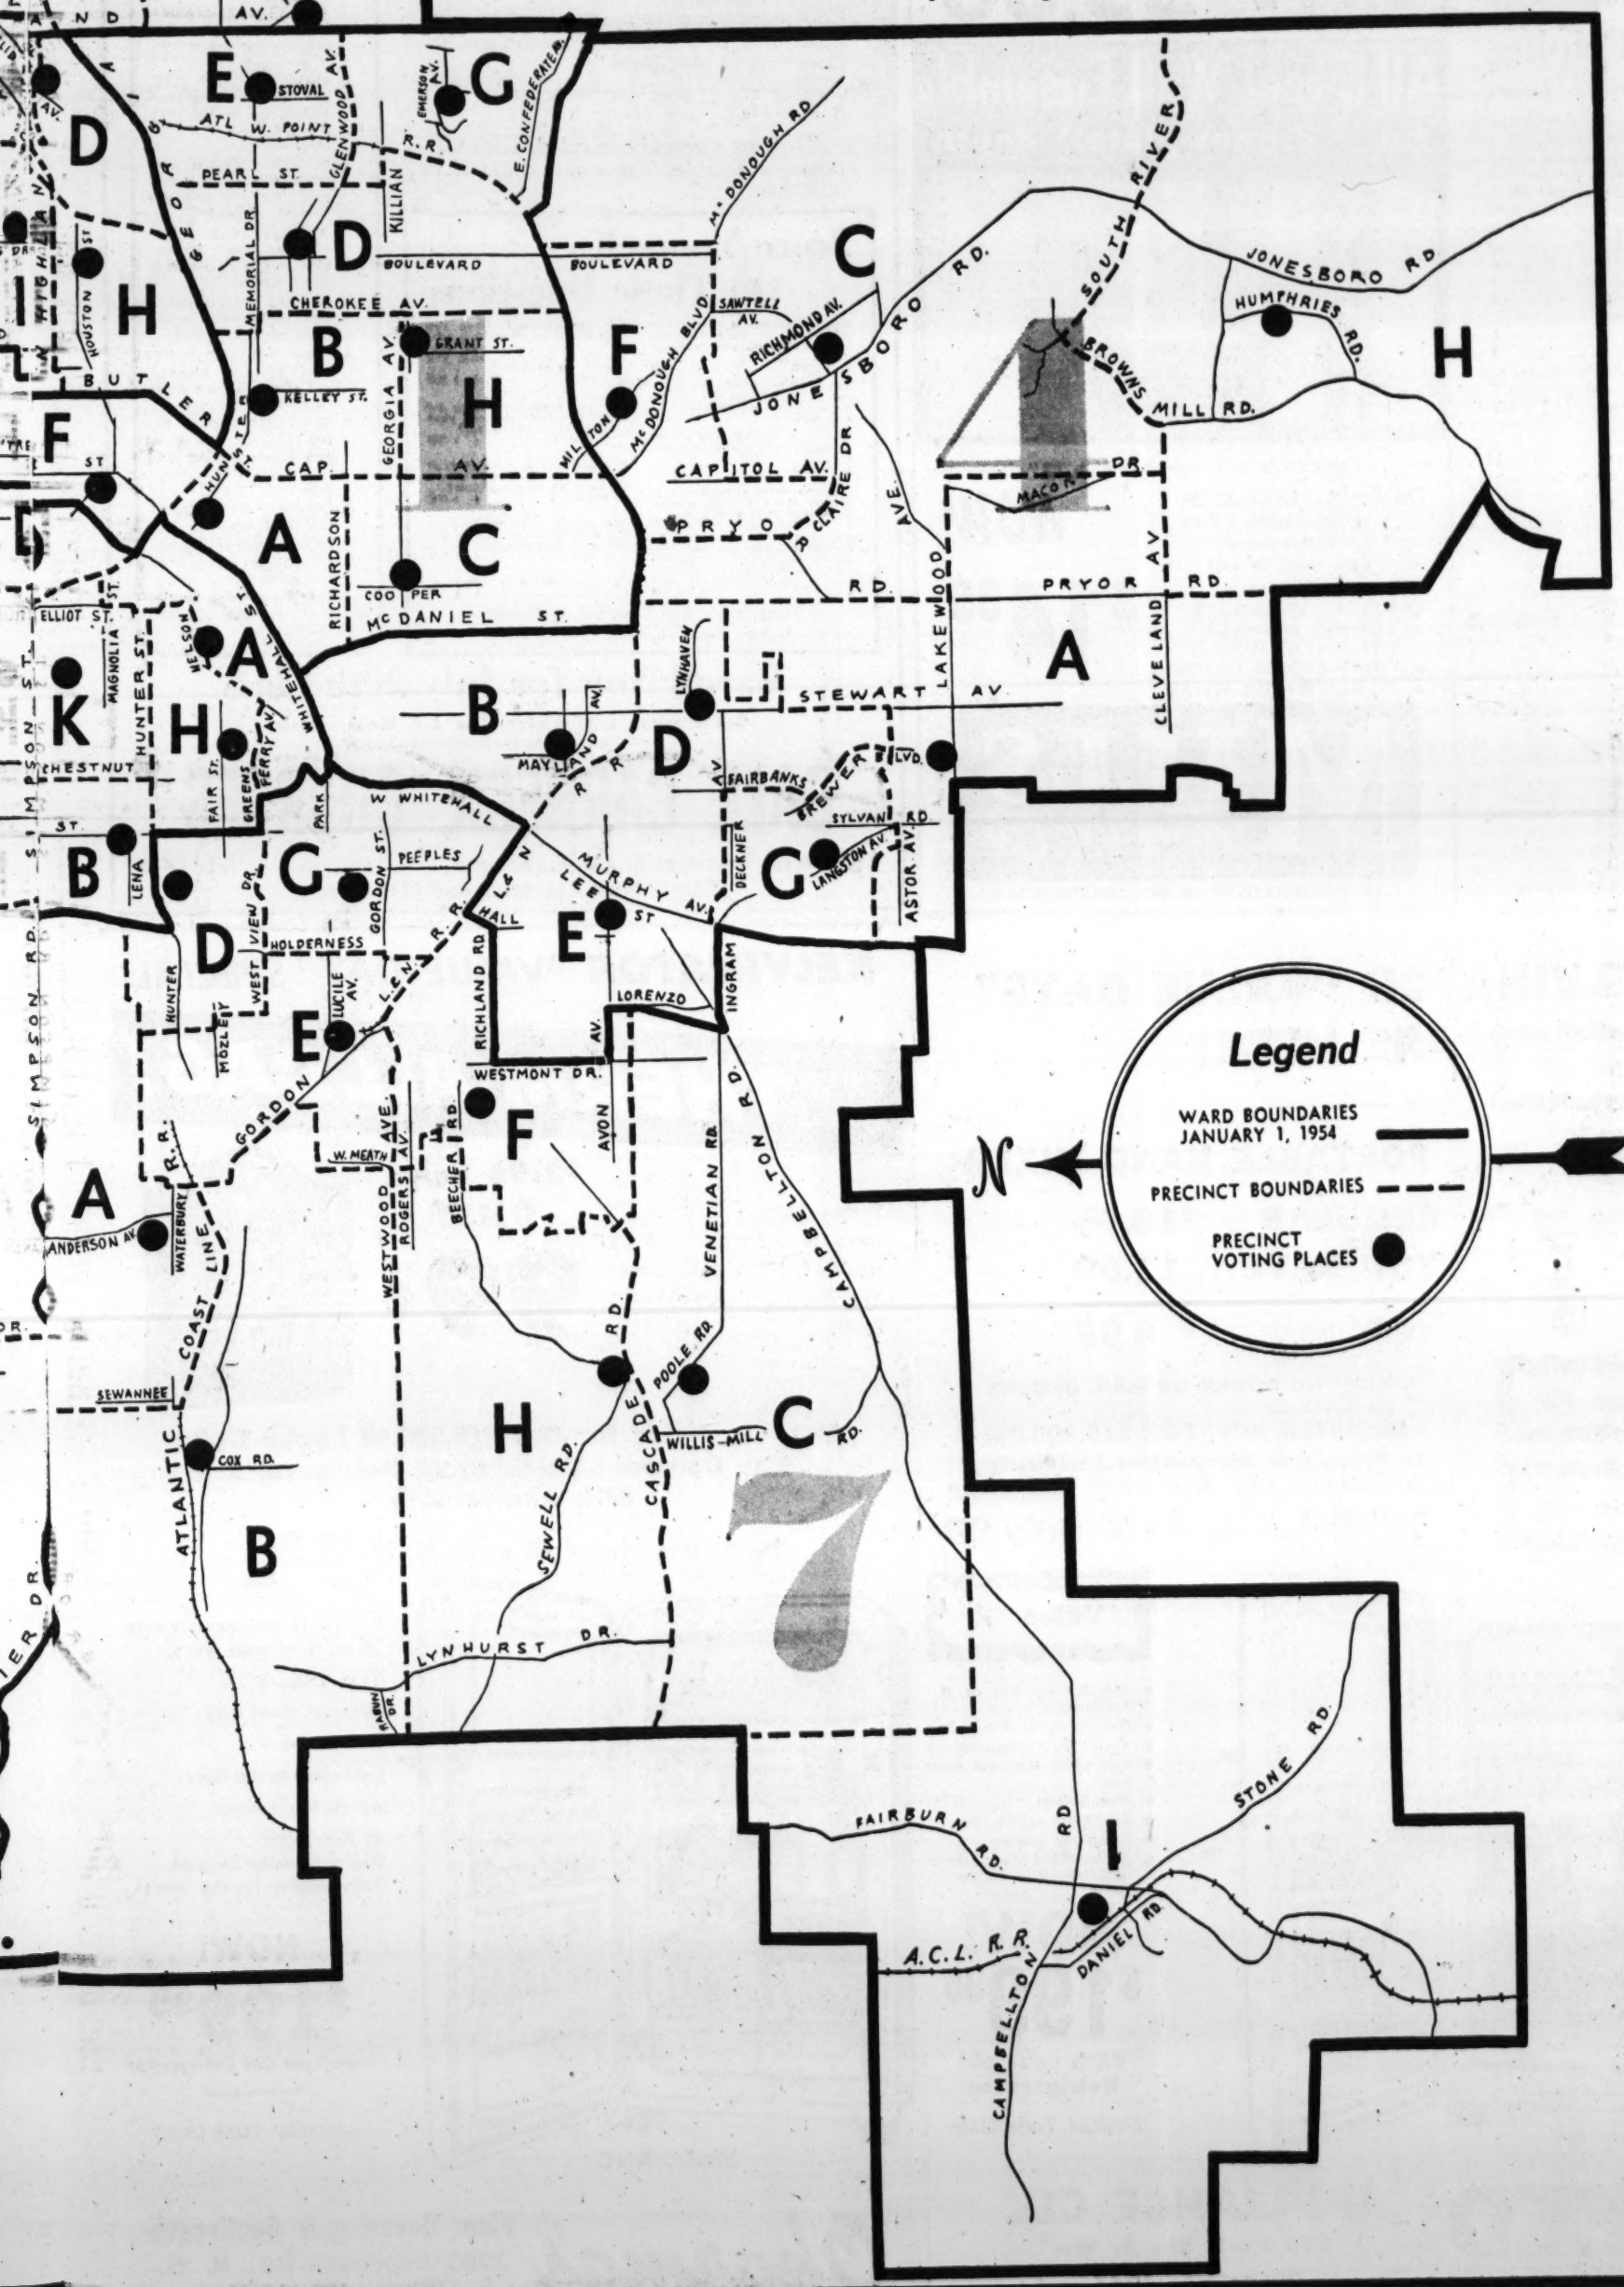

This advertisement is presented as a public service to the citizens of Atlanta, so that they may have full information as to the bond election, the items upon which they are voting, and any changes made in voting precincts, not only for the bond election, but for all future elections.

William B. Hartsfield
Mayor

BOUNDARIES

The Bond Issue of July 14th has been carefully considered by many civic, PTA and labor groups. It will not fulfill all the requirements of our expanding city, but represents some of your most pressing needs.

When a city grows, it grows all over, and has need for more of almost everything. These bonds are evidence of Atlanta's growth. They are well within the legal debt limitation. They will positively occasion no need for increased taxes. They will mean the fulfillment of some particular need or increased service to every section of our city. They mean Atlanta's continued progress.

Thompson Says Rivals Fear Lead

A group of present and former legislative leaders will be in charge of the Hand headquarters. They include former House Speaker Roy Harris, present Speaker Pro Tem George Smith of Emanuel County, Rep. Jack Ray of Warren County and former Rep. Jones Bargeron of Burke.

As Griffin blasted Thompson Monday night for vetoing the White Primary Bill in 1947, Thompson pledged to uphold the County Unit System as his own "best friend" and declared he is against mixing the races in Georgia's schools. However, he said that "we must be fair to the Negroes and we must do what the Supreme Court says we must do —that is give them absolutely equal educational opportunities."

Thompson also promised to repeal what he called a "silly law" that requires applicants for an automobile license tag to state how much money they owe on their vehicles. And he warned that state merit system employes "who demerit the merit system" will lose their jobs when he is governor.

PAPERS ATTACKED

Lashing the Atlanta newspapers in his speech which also was telecast in Rome and Columbus, Griffin said:

"The Atlanta Journal-Constitution monopoly, along with a few professional politicians, have a diabolical scheme to steal the election this summer from the people of Georgia. They have done their best to confuse and mislead our folks.

"They have a candidate for governor—Mr. Hand—and they are pouring the sickly syrup of eulogy on his head. They are giving encouragement and newspaper support to Mr. Linder, while they are helping Thompson day and night. Our people will neither be confused nor misled by this brazen attempt on the part of the absentee press."

CLAIMS 15,000

Thompson, declaring he had a great opening rally at Douglas with a crowd "conservatively estimated at 15,000," added that more than 1,800 persons voluntarily brought with them signed cards pledging to support him, with a dollar attached to each card.

"I am sure most of the people of Georgia listened to all of the campaign speeches Saturday," Thompson said, "and I'm sure they noticed that all my opponents jumped on me.

"I know all these boys. They come from fine families and I know that at heart they did not mean what they said about me. I want the people of Georgia to excuse them because it is evident that they are just frantic because they know I am so far out in front in the race."

Griffin will speak to the Atlanta Kiwanis Club at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday and then to a rally at Stone Mountain at 6 p.m. Thompson will speak at Ellijay at 8 p.m. Gowen will be at Millen at 10 a.m., Midville at 12 noon, Waynesboro at 4 p.m., and speak over an Augusta TV station at 7 p.m. Hand and Linder have no speeches scheduled Tuesday.

box totals in a dozen of Jefferson's 239 boxes. Each alteration was in the Porter vote, and involved changing zero to six, one to seven or seven to nine.

The change, since corrected by the county committee, did not give Porter enough votes to win.

Garrett said in a statement he was "innocent of the charge against me," and had committed "no legal or moral wrong."

The chubby attorney general went into that office as an assistant in 1935, a few months after his graduation from the University of Alabama Law School. He continued as an assistant until he assumed the attorney general position Jan. 15, 1951.

Garrett directed a Phenix City investigation two years ago after an anticrime crusader's home was dynamited. No arrests were made in that case.

New Russell Board Named

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 12 (AP)—A new board of registrars was named for Russell County today after two old members resigned and the other was fired by Gov. Gordon Persons.

And the State Appointing Board urged the new registrars to take immediate action toward purging the voting list of all who are not entitled to vote.

Named to the new board were Paul C. Slocomb of Phenix City, Pat H. Perry Jr., of Hurtsboro and K. Charles Pinger of Seale. They were nominated by the Russell Betterment Assn. at the governor's request.

Dulles Flies To See Mendes, Eden But Warns Against Soft Truce

Premier and Foreign Minister Chou En-lai, and has twice talked with Vietminh delegate Pham Van Dong.

Dulles' sudden decision was a partial concession to British suggestions, and urgent French assertions, that the chances of getting an acceptable settlement would be considerably enhanced if he or Undersecretary Walter Bedell Smith lent their prestige to the proceedings.

Before he departed Dulles conferred personally with President Eisenhower at the White House and had several telephone conversations with him. Acting White House press secretary Murray Snyder announced that "the President concurs fully and approves completely of the secretary's course of action."

The secretary also told a closed meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee about his plans.

He was accompanied on the trip by State department counselsor Douglas MacArthur II, assistant secretary for public affairs Carl McCardle and Herman Phleger, legal adviser.

In his statement at the airport Dulles said he hoped his trip would show "that I wish to leave no stone unturned in seeking to find the course which will best serve the traditional friendship and cooperation of France and the United States and which will promote the goals of human justice, welfare and dignity to which our nations have always been dedicated."

"We also attach great value," he continued, "to preserving the united front of France, Great Britain and the United States, which during this postwar period has so importantly served all three of us in our dealing with the Communists."

Dulles noted that the United States, Britain and France share long-term interests in Indochina, but that a "special set of primary interests" has been superimposed upon France and the Associated States of Indochina which have been waging more than seven years of war against the Communists.

Mendes-France extended his invitation this morning as a sequel to his conversations at Geneva yesterday with U.S. Ambassador C. Douglas Dillon, who explained to him the U.S. position. The invitation was telephoned to the State department by the U.S. embassy in Paris.

Both the invitation and Dulles' decision to accept it took the French embassy here by surprise.

the Reds and other powers reached agreements on Korea and Indochina. Such agreements, he observed, would depend on good faith.

At the close of his 50-minute speech, former Prime Minister Clement Attlee, leader of the Labor party, asked Churchill whether the idea of a Big Three conference had been raised in Washington.

"Yes, sir," Churchill answered, "it certainly was discussed in general terms between me and the President and in our circle there, and all its difficulties were surveyed.

"Broadly speaking, I think the question is more one of timing than anything else.

"But I do not feel it would be of advantage for me to make any detailed statement upon the subject at the present time and I do not think it would be so on Wednesday, but I can assure Mr. Attlee that it is always in my mind."

The House debates Churchill's statement Wednesday.

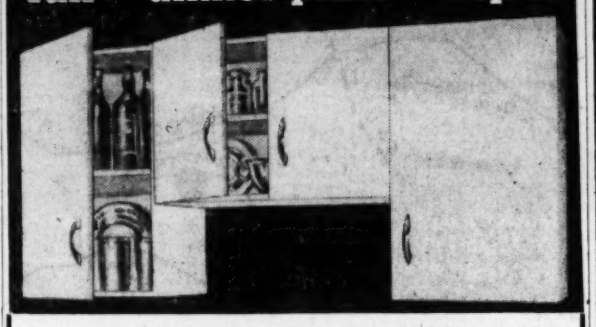

The prime minister did not elaborate, but members of Parliament got the strong impression from Churchill's careful phrasing that the President favored a Big Three meeting at the right time.

EMPHASIS ON NEGATIVE

Are You a Slave to Eyeglasses?
Free booklet explains how you can see without glasses!
Atlanta (Special) — A European scientist has invented a new type of corneal contact lens, which revolutionizes visual aids and may enable millions of Americans who are now slaves to glasses to actually throw them away. The secret of the radical difference and superiority of the lens lies in a specially ground and polished recessed and domed central portion, which prevents the lens from touching the most sensitive part of the eye —its center. Visual discomfort and poor sight can now be improved far better than with glasses. The lens is absolutely invisible. No fluids or impressions are required. Persons who wear thick glasses with strong corrections; post-cataract cases and cases of Keratoconus, mixed astigmatism, strong farsightedness and nearsightedness can now be corrected far better than with glasses. Write or phone for your copy of the interesting Booklet "The Truth About Contact Lenses" to Research Director, Atlanta Invisible Contact Lens Service, Volunteer Bldg., 66 Luckie St., Suite 323, Atlanta, Ga., Phone ALpine 3125, or just send a post card.

NAACP Subversive Tag Is Hit

An Atlanta Negro political scientist Monday defended the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People against charges of being "subversive" and said the Negro rights group seeks "only first class citizenship for Negroes by democratic means."

Speaking to the Columbus NAACP chapter at a local Negro church, Dr. William M. Boyd said his group uses the "ballot and the courts to achieve our ends."

"We have never worn bedsheets or advocated violence," he said.

The state president of the NAACP also scored "politicians" who seek to "defy" the U.S. Supreme Court's decision outlawing segregation in the schools.

He said the NAACP will match, plan for plan, any methods devised by the Georgia Education Commission for avoiding desegregation, and will bring lawsuits wherever necessary after September, 1955.

"We will not wait and we will not compromise. Only implementation of the Supreme Court decision will be satisfactory," he told the group.

He said neither "Mr. Fred Hand's 40 or 50 plans or Mr. Talmadge's private school plan has a legal leg to stand on."

However, he continued, if politicians wish to abolish the schools "we can all grow up equal—equally ignorant."

Answering the subversive charge, the young Negro professor challenged any politician to indict "leaders of the NAACP as the Communists they claim them to be."

"I will weigh my patriotism or any NAACP leader's against that of any gubernatorial candidate," he said.

Fred Hand Blasted by 'Taxi' Smith

ALBANY, July 12 (AP)—Secretary-Treasurer J. W. (Taxi) Smith of the Georgia Ports Authority said Monday that gubernatorial candidate Fred Hand of Pelham "has received more money from the Ports Authority than I have."

Hand attacked Smith in his opening rally at Camilla on Saturday, saying Smith "is drawing a fabulous salary for doing nothing" and would be removed from the state payroll if Hand wins the governorship.

Smith, who is Albany's mayor, replied Monday in a sharp statement.

"Although I have drawn $5,000 a year as secretary-treasurer of the Ports Authority," Smith said, ". . . someone's efforts have occasioned Mr. Hand to draw thousands of dollars for insurance premiums (on a Savannah port) and he has never turned down a check I have signed for insurance payable to the Hand Insurance Agency."

"If he cannot or will not tell the amount he has received I expect to do so," Smith added. "Comparing our efforts, Mr. Hand has received more money from the Ports Authority than I have."

Smith said that he was not on the state payroll, as the Ports Authority was self-sustaining, that he was not hired by the governor, and that if he was replaced it would not be by "the Merchant Prince of Pelham."

He called for Hand to explain the large amounts of money expended for attorneys for the school-building authority.

State Letter Carriers Rap Salary Reclassification Plan

GAINESVILLE, July 12 (AP)—The postal system's salary reclassification plan drew criticism Monday at the 51st annual convention of Georgia Rural Letter Carriers Assn.

Warren Bledsoe of Georgetown Ga., vice president of the National Rural Letter Carriers Assn., told the convention that postal employes generally are dissatisfied with the reclassification plan proposed by Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield.

He recalled that the plan would provide pay raises for some postal employes and omit salary increases for others.

Bledsoe said rural letter carriers had asked that their pay be increased $800 a year. They contended they needed that much to make their purchasing power equal to that of 1939.

Mrs. Henry J. Conn of Chickasha, Okla., treasurer of the Ladies Auxiliary of the National Rural Letter Carriers Assn., was another convention speaker Monday. She reported on accomplishments during the year in the auxiliary's social welfare projects, including blood donations, cancer fund and rural nurses' scholarships.

Officers of the state association will be elected at the final session of the convention Tuesday. C. W. Graham of Washington, Ga., is the retiring president of the association.

Colonial Stores trims off waste before weighing and before Pricing to give you MORE MEAT for your money

The very best steak in the whole world has some waste attached to it. You don't want this excess fat and bone, so why should you pay for it? Your Colonial Stores' meat-man trims off the unwanted portions before weighing, before pricing so that you get FULL VALUE for your meat dollar. He leaves just enough fat and bone to add moistness and flavor in the cooking. This COLONIAL TRIM pattern holds true in other cuts of beef and in other meats, too. Economy cuts like pot roast are really economical at Colonial . . . for, like the choicest steak, they are trimmed of unwanted fat and bone before the thrifty price is marked. It's the trim that counts in meat value—and you can count on the COLONIAL TRIM to give you MORE meat for your money!

FORD, ROBERTS TOE HILL IN ALL-STAR GAME TODAY

WHITEY FORD
Casey Leans On Own Lefty

By JACK HAND

CLEVELAND, July 12 (AP)—Whitey Ford, 25-year-old New York Yankee lefthander, is Manager Casey Stengel's surprise pitching choice to start against Philadelphia's Robin Roberts in Tuesday's 21st All-Star baseball game at Municipal Stadium, starting at 12:30 p.m. (Atlanta time).

WSB-TV will carry the All-Star game to Greater Atlanta area television fans. The radio account will be broadcast by WQXI.)

With a break from the weatherman who predicted a partly cloudy day with the thermometer soaring to the 90s, the All-Star attendance record of 69,812, set at Cleveland in 1935, might be broken.

There will be network radio (Mutual) and television (NBC and Mutual) coverage, starting at 12:15 (Atlanta time). In case of rain the game will be played at 7 p.m. (Atlanta time) if possible.

Game receipts plus $110,000 Radio-TV money go into the fund out of which player pensions are paid.

Although the Americans still hold a 12-8 edge in the series, the Nationals' home run power makes Manager Walter Alston's team an 8-5 choice.

Both clubs are in tough shape for pitching after Sunday's firing and injuries that cost the Americans the services of New York's Allie Reynolds and Cleveland's Mike Garcia.

Stengel planned to use Garcia until he got word Sunday that he was unable to pitch for his own team against the White Sox. He also expected to use Chicago's Virgil Trucks but may not work him because he pitched a tiring nine-inning game Sunday.

"I wanted a lefty to get after their lefthanders," Stengel said, explaining his choice of Ford who has been erratic in compiling a spotty 7-6 record. Ford, however, looked so good in relief at Washington Saturday night that the Senators' Eddie Yost said, "If he throws like that nobody ever will hit him."

Alston, who got the job as a freshman manager because Brooklyn fired Chuck Dressen, the '53 pennant winner, followed the book in naming Roberts (11-8), who has started three of the last four National League victories since 1950. No club, incidentally, ever has won five in a row. The Americans copped four straight from 1946 through 1949.

Stengle won't name a second or third pitcher until Tuesday. You get the idea he is thinking of Washington's Bob Porterfield or Chicago's Sandy Consuegra (Garcia's replacement) for the middle three.

That would give him well-rested Bob Keegan of Chicago or Dean Stone of Washington, his other lefty, to finish up.

After Roberts, Alston is undecided. He probably will shift to a lefthander, Johnny Antonelli of New York, for the middle three. That would leave lefthander Warren Spahn of Milwaukee and righthanders Carl Erskine of Brooklyn, Marv Grissom of New York and Milwaukee's Gene Conley and Jim Wilson.

The problem of "where to play Willie Mays" will face Alston after three innings. He said he would remove Jackie Robinson of Brooklyn from left field after three. He might shift Snider to right and play Musial in left, leaving centerfield open for the sensational New York outfielder who leads both majors with 31 home runs. Or he might play Mays in left.

Roy Campanella, Brooklyn catcher who has been behind the plate for 43 consecutive All-Star innings, got a go-ahead from his doctor today in Brooklyn. The doctor reassured Campy numbness in his fingers, following an operation, was only a natural reaction and he soon would be as good as ever. Campy is hitting only .215.

Ted Williams, Boston's fabulous slugger, will be in the American lineup as soon as three innings are finished.

The 16 starters, exclusive of pitchers, were named by the votes of 4,272,470 fans and must play at least three innings.

Poor Man's Bobby Thomson

After all the whooping and hollering by social-climbing Georgians, major league baseball finally arrived in Atlanta Sunday afternoon, featuring a cast of sterling players. Jim Solt, playing the role of Bobby Thomson, planted a pitch delivered by Dave Benedict, playing the role of Ralph Branca, in the little scoreboard garden out in left field at Ponce de Leon Park, playing the role of the Polo Grounds.

And roughhouse Dick Donovan, playing the role of roughhouse Eddie Stanky, dropkicked the ball into left field out of the hands of Don Leppert, playing the role of Phil Rizzuto. Just like it was in the World Series. And the Atlanta Crackers, playing the role of the New York Giants, won the game that brought the Southern Association All-Stars to their lawn for the big party Thursday.

Bisher

Drammer. Suzzzzzz-pense. An extravaganza chockful of baseball action, a line I stole from a movie billboard, and one near-hanging.

This took place early, the near-hanging. The honored guest was going to be J. Whitlow Wyatt, who manages the Crackers, and who had managed to surprise everybody in town when he came up with Bill George as the man to face Birmingham in the one they had to win.

Even George was surprised, but like the saint of the same name, ready to go out and meet the Birmingham dragon. The fact that he lasted exactly eight minutes and 20 seconds by the clock doesn't figure. "I still had good stuff," he said after he'd been leveled. "They just hit it, that's all."

More than surprised was Leo Cristante. He was shocked. It was his turn to pitch, the biggest winner in baseball this summer, a guy who has now skewered the Barons nine times in a row. Snubbed on the big day.

—Cristante Got Bumped Again

But this guy Wyatt was playing the thing all the way his way. It was like an Alfred Hitchcock production. If the guy got hanged, he was going to get the noose tied the way he wanted it.

They get four runs behind in those busy eight minutes George was wrestling and losing to the dragon. But they recuperate fast and make it a new ball game, then they get two runs behind again. This time it's looking real fatal, like there's no life left in the bodies. This Benedict, he's pitching like a Yankee thoroughbred, and you know he's no humpty dumpty, for he's been elected to the all-star squad himself.

Then they reach this big crisis in the seventh, two men on, two men out and Cristante coming up. But he gets bumped again. It's getting late now. They've had rallies going twice before and choked. If Benedict gets them this time, chances are they're got for good.

That's when Wyatt goes for Solt, who's gainfully employed at the time as a bullpen catcher. George is showered and in the press box by this time, and when the honorary president of the Upstairs Managers starts an Arabic chant, George stops him.

"It's the thing to do," he says. "This Solt is a hitter, a helluva hitter. It's the thing to do. Give them the best hitter you can at a time like this."

—And Rich Man's Dave Benedict

It could have hanged Wyatt again. But instantly one pitch made him a great manager. Solt is only a cotton-picking Thomson, for his shot was heard just around the Southern Association, not the world. But the situation had everything it takes for a heart attack.

This all-star thing, you see, meant more than you'll ever know to Wyatt and his horses. If they'd failed to bring the game to Atlanta, Wyatt would have assumed it as a personal responsibility. He would have grieved the rest of the season. It wasn't a pennant, but it meant just as much as one to him.

Sending to the bullpen for the clutch man reminded me of the 1947 World Series. That was the Pier Six brawl between the Yankees and Dodgers, and the Bums were on the ragged edge when the sixth inning of the sixth game arrived. They scored four big ones, and in the process, sent out to the bullpen for Bobby Bragan to pinch-hit a double. Then when it was all over, Bragan, like Solt, ran back out into the haze of the left-field bullpen and resumed his work. And the score, too, was 8-6, just like Sunday.

Then Monday morning the last wallop landed, a real smash climax. There, on the same sports page that announced happily in very black type that Solt had knocked the Crackers into the all-star game, was a story that said Ralph Branca had been released by Detroit. The rich man's Dave Benedict ran out of luck. Cold, heartless irony.

Patterson Plasters Royer

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP)—Floyd Patterson, former Olympic middleweight champion, stopped Jacques Royer of France tonight by a technical knockout when the latter was not permitted to come out for the eighth round because of a badly cut right eye at St. Nicholas Arena.

Royer, who weighed 166 to Patterson's 164¾, was outclassed through most of the fight. He suffered cuts over the left eye and the top of his forehead.

Whisenant Belts Grand Slam; Giggie, Jester Chalk Up Wins

By JESSE OUTLAR

Bob Giggie and Virgil Jester, who hadn't won a game between them since May, selected an opportune moment to revisit the winner's circle Monday night. For the Crackers had to take both games from Mobile, as they did, 9-2 and 5-2, to maintain their first-place residence. Pete Whisenant made Giggie's simple by powdering a grand-slam homer in the opener.

Despite the dual triumph, which extended the Bears' losing streak to seven straight, the Crackers are only a half-game in front of New Orleans. The onrushing Pels, who downed Birmingham twice, already have picked up eight lengths on Atlanta since June 19.

Both Giggie and Jester were generous with hits, but stingy with runs. Combined they surrendered 21 safeties. But only two earned markers. Meanwhile, the Crackers, taking advantage of Ken Stupur's wildness and shoddy Bear fielding, produced 14 runs on 14 blows.

Only 2,837 customers watched Giggie bottle his first victory since May 23, Jester his first since May 26. Though he was nicked for nine hits, it was encouraging to see Giggie stay the route in the seven-inning game for the first time in seven starts.

Jester, plugged for a dozen hits and no earned runs, got revenge for a heartbreaking 1-0 loss last week in Mobile. He lifted his mark to 2-4, and Giggie improved his chart to 6-8.

The route-going stints gave the Cracker pitching staff a shot in the arm, for another doubleheader is booked Tuesday. Pete Modica (3-2) will pitch the lidlifter, and Dick Donovan (7-6) may work the long game. John Hoffman (2-5) and Ira Moxley (9-6) will hurl for Mobile.

His mates gave Giggie a rousing 4-0 sendoff in the first inning Monday on one hit. The Bears cooperated completely, with Stupur signing four of his eight passes, and Lyle Olsen kicking in with a two-run error. Paul Rambone contributed the safety, a double off the right-field signs.

The generous Stupur served Chuck Tanner a single between walks in the fourth, then fed Whisenant his grand-slam homer. The 380-foot wallop over the left fence was Whisenant's 11th clout of the year, the second four-run sock by a Cracker

By the time Dick McCoy arrived in the fifth, Giggie was rocking along with an 8-2 cushion. He had been punctured for two runs in the fifth, when the Bears grouped five of their hits.

McCoy promptly handed the Crackers their ninth run when he overthrew first, after fielding Giggie's bunt hit. Frank DiPrima, who had singled, legged it all the way home on the error.

DON DITTRICH
Break Went Against Him

HAMMOND, Ind., July 12 (AP)—Don Dittrich, 12-year-old Little League baseball pitcher, has a bad break to blame for failing to hurl a no-hit game.

His Marsco Sox team of the Hammond Optimist Little League piled up an 8-0 lead over the Magikist Generals Sunday as Dittrich fanned 11 batsmen and toiled towards a no-hit job.

With two out in the last inning, Dittrich needed only to get the last batter. But on his first pitch, Dittrich grabbed his right arm and winced with pain.

He had broken his arm between the shoulder and elbow.

Spectators said the snap of the bone in the boy's forearm was heard all over the field. He was taken to St. Margaret Hospital, where a cast was placed on the arm, and was told to stay in the hospital a few days.

Mon'mayor Hits Three Home Runs

Rampaging Pels Trounce Barons

Condensed From Wire Reports

Outfielder Felipe Montemayor hit three home runs in the opening game as the rampaging New Orleans Pelicans swept a doubleheader from Birmingham's fading Barons, 12-1 and 5-1 at Birmingham Monday night.

The three homers tied a Southern Association record set in 1921 and matched numerous times since.

The double win kept the Pels only a half game behind the loop-leading Atlanta Crackers, who beat Mobile twice, 9-2 and 5-2.

Chattanooga scored twice in the ninth to trip Little Rock, 8-7, in the start of a 14-game home stand and Nashville moved out of the league cellar by defeating Memphis 11-6 in other Southern games Monday.

THERE'S NO JOY FOR A'S

Zernial's Injury Latest Worry

PHILADELPHIA, July 12. (AP)—The fortunes of the Philadelphia Athletics are at rock bottom today with a financial crisis growing worse, a pitching staff in a state of collapse and finally the loss by injury of one of their most potent batsmen.

The payoff came yesterday in a double-header with the Boston Red Sox. The visitors trounced the A's 18-0 and 11-1 at Connie Mack Stadium but the real woe was the loss of slugging outfielder Gus Zernial who suffered a fractured left collarbone chasing a fly. He will be lost to the team for at least six weeks.

Manager Eddie Joost said Zernial's injury was an "unfortunate thing." The big left fielder tripped while making a diving stab at a fly off the bat of Billy Consolo which went for a double.

"It looked like Boston was going to win the pennant," Joost said after the Bosox pounded six A's pitchers for 29 runs in their 40-hit attack.

Joost said the team experienced some "bad pitching" yesterday and "when you've got a club that should hit and doesn't, you're in bad shape if you don't get the pitching." The double loss dropped the A's to within a ½ game of last place Baltimore.

Associated Press Wirephoto

JUST ONE MORE WORRY FOR TROUBLED A'S
Injured Gus Zernial Signs Autograph For Tommy Fox

Joost said he felt the absence of pitcher Bobby Shantz had a "great deal" to do with the team's poor showing this year. The ace left-hander suffered a recurrence of an arm injury the first game of the season and has been out of the lineup since.

Shantz was a great morale lifter, the first-year manager said.

"If we lost three games, we had someone to stop 'em," he said.

Joost quoted Connie Mack, venerable founder and manager of the A's for 50 years, as once saying pitching was 70 per cent of the game. "I'd put it up to 90," Joost added.

"The double loss most certainly had an effect on morale," Joost declared. "I didn't give the team a talk but they were obviously badly hurt by the beating." Although the players understand they have a part in each loss, he said, the "manager is responsible."

Joost said the three-day rest for the all-star game might help lift morale.

He said no immediate shake-up in the lineup is planned.

On the other side of the scene, the financial worries of the team went from bad to worse. Mayor Joseph S. Clark Jr., and 75 leading business leaders started a campaign last week to help the team through a "community-chest kind of drive."

The campaign is aimed at selling 400,000 tickets for remaining home games this season, the amount estimated for the club to break even. Yesterday's contests, however, drew only 7,445 paid customers, well below the daily quota of 13,000.

The campaign still must sell 383,883 tickets to "save the A's."

Home Game With Wildcats Features Tech Court Slate

Jackets Card 22 Games in All

By LARRY FOX

Kentucky's marauding Wildcats will come to Atlanta for a performance at Tech next winter as part of a 10-game home basketball program announced Monday by Georgia Tech. The Jackets' over-all schelule lists 22 games, plus participation in the Christmas Holidays Tournament Dec. 27-Jan. 1 in Buffalo, N.Y.

Unlike last year when the Jackets met Kentucky's Southeastern Conference champions in Lexington and again in Louisville, next season's series will be a home-and-home affair. Kentucky will be the host team Jan. 8 and come to Atlanta Jan. 31.

A total of 14 conference games are on the card for the Jackets of Coach Whack Hyder, who posted a dismal 0-14 record in SEC play last year. The over-all card was not much better, 2-22, but the two victories came near the close of the year as Tech's kid-filled five began to jell.

Prospects of a faster start next year seem eminent. Tech has added Sewanee to the schedule for 1954-55 and opens the season with the SEC refugees from Tennessee Dec. 18. Oddly, it was Sewanee's losing records that Tech threatened last season before beating South Carolina. The only other victory came over Georgia.

Opening date sends Tech against Sewanee in Atlanta Dec. 18. South Carolina is here Dec. 20 and then the Jackets depart for the Buffalo tournament. Tech gets another chance at Sewanee there Jan. 6 and jumps from one extreme to another in its next game, against Kentucky at Lexington.

TECH'S 1954-55 BASKETBALL SCHEDULE

darter double past first in the third.

Tanner, who had walked, winged all the way home.

That furnished Jester a 3-2 edge. The Bears had rang up a run in the first when Jim Williams doubled, took third on the first of four Bill Antonello singles, and scored on Montag's error. Tanner singled behind Billy Porter's hit and an error by Bob Crain for the tying run in the Cracker half. Rambone, who had lived on the boot, took third, from where he crossed on Whisenant's fly, the sixth RBI for Pete.

Rambone's reckless fielding put Jester in a precarious position in the Bear third, but he emerged with only one-run damage.

Once over that hump, Jester, who didn't issue a walk, kept the scoring door closed for the last six rounds. The Crackers added insurance singletons in the seventh and eighth off Mossor, who went the distance.

Bears' Ray Shearer made three circus catches in left, and little Billy Porter came up with several fielding gems for the Crackers.

By MEL DERRICK

"No man's a hero to his valet," it says in a book somewhere.

But Dick Bullington, "valet" to a couple of dozen young men, never read that book. To him, they're all heroes.

Dick Bullington

To a lot of other people, too. For Bullington's young men are the Atlanta Crackers.

The quick, nervous, 31-year-old carries the official title of Atlanta Club House Attendant. But his duties are very much those of a valet. He sees that the uniforms are cleaned, the shoes shined, the clubhouse spic-and-span. He does everything a valet is supposed to do.

"And I wouldn't want them to know this," he half way whispered, "but they're pretty much heroes to me."

"Who do I like the best? I like 'em all the best." He jumped as Dick Donovan looked up sharply and glared a mock glare at him. "Well, maybe I like Donovan best." Bullington looked around the clubhouse to see who else was listening. "Donovan, (Bob) Giggie, and (Pete) Whisenant," he finished.

Bullington is the bespectacled man in the white ducks and white T-shirt Cracker fans see carrying the water bucket or chasing the ball or leading a batted-out Atlanta pitcher to the locker room.

"Yeah, that's what I do during the game," he says. "What they don't see is me checking on the uniforms or cleaning shoes. Or opening the locker room door for that pitcher who got knocked out.

"And when the team's out-of-town, I'm the assistant grounds keeper."

The Cracker "valet" paused a moment to hang some sweat-soaked warmup shirts on a short string running across the top of the locker room. Then he continued:

"I like my work fine. It's easy and the players all are fine. I been doing it for 13 years now.

"But when the Crackers hit a losing streak, it's not so good. I get down, too. Sometimes I even lose weight. I lost 10 pounds waiting for us to clinch the All-Star game. But I like my work fine."

Three Atlantans Win In Publinx Tourney

Taylor, Johnson, Croxton Advance; Carson and Harmon Make Debut Today

By HARRY GAGE
Dallas Morning News

DALLAS, Texas, July 12—Georgia's three National Public Links Golf Championship contenders who saw action in the opening round Monday scored impressive victories in the hottest day of the year in Dallas.

Two other Atlantans had first-round byes.

Dr. Charles Taylor scored a 4-and-3 victory over Miami Harbor boat captain 42-year-old Luke Kyle; Jake D. Croxton blasted youthful Johnny Arreaga of San Antonio, Texas, 5 and 4, while George Johnson won over Joseph Gallardo Jr., of Los Angeles, 3 and 2.

John Carson and A. T. Harmon drew first-round byes in the 29th annual tournament being played over the par 71 Cedar Crest golf course here.

Taylor held a 3-up lead over Arreaga with par golf after winning five of the first six holes.

Johnson grabbed an early lead over Gallardo by winning the first, third and fourth with pars. Gallardo won the fifth as Johnson got lost in the woods and took a double bogey. Gallardo trimmed the margin further at the sixth with a birdie win, but the Atlantan closed fast with a birdie at the seventh and a par win at the eighth to turn 3-up.

Croxton was two over par on the front but enjoyed a 4-up lead. He won the first, third, fifth, sixth and ninth and lost only the fourth where he three-putted. They halved the next four with pars and the 14th with birdies to wind it up.

Poland Lists Star Lineup Against Crax

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 12 (AP)—Hugh Poland, who will manage the Southern Association All-Stars against Atlanta Thursday night announced his opening batting order today.

Bob Lennon

Six of the eight men named are batting above .300. The lineup includes the league's leading hitter, Gene Freese of New Orleans, and the top slugger, Bob Lennon of Nashville.

Freese, who is hitting .350, will play second base and bat number six. Lennon, who has pounded out 37 home runs so far this season, will play center field and bat as cleanup man.

Mathews, Boyer Clash in NF Golf

Tommy Mathews, who won medalist honors with a three-under-par 68, drew Lyle Boyer as his first-round opponent in the North Fulton Club Championship.

Tommy Mathews vs. Lyle Boyer; Jimmy Moore vs. Ken Giesler; Wally Stewart vs. Scott Marks; Mack Erle vs. George Thompson; Charlie Ozmer vs. Bob Jacot; Mike Cleveland vs. Bowie Adams; George Johnson vs. Ralph Willis; E. B. Judge vs. J. M. Lacefield; Bill Wright vs. Gene Duncan; Jimmy Sutton vs. Sandy Strickland; Stan Payne vs. W. C. Etheridge; Bill Hare vs. W. D. Hamilton; A. T. Harmon vs. Luke Parks; Harley Ross vs. Jim Marchman; W. H. Finke vs. Dr. Charles Taylor; Bobby Gaston vs. Norman Perry.

128 Lads Open Qualifying Play

Special to The Constitution

MACON, July 12—A record field of 128 boys, ranging in ages from 8 to 17, will tee off here Tuesday at Idle Hour Country Club in 18 holes of qualifying for the State Jaycee Junior golf championship.

Low 32 and ties in Tuesday's play will be placed in the championship flight for 72 holes of medal play starting Wednesday and winding up Friday with two rounds.

Winner of the championship flight and next three low players will represent Georgia in the International Jaycee Junior championship at Albuquerque, N. M., Aug. 16-21.

Jimmy Raines of Augusta captured last year's State at Columbus and went on to take the International crown at Ann Arbor, Mich. He also teamed with Tommy Bates, Atlanta; Bobby Dunn, Camilla, and Jake Howard Jr., Augusta, to give Georgia the International team trophy.

Of this group only Bates will be back for another try. Raines, Howard and Dunn have reached their 18th birthday and are no longer eligible.

First group will tee off at 9:30 Tuesday.

Don Blackburn Hurls No-Hitter

Donald Blacqburn threw a six-inning no-hitter at Grove Park Monday afternoon as his Fitzhugh Lee Midgets took a 2-0 victory over Grove Park in the 12-and-under league. Blackburn also homered for the winners.

In other City Recreation League tilts, Leland popped Fulton Red Shield, 13-3, Grady Gray trounced the Atlanta Junior Crackers, 11-1, Grove Park beat Techwood, 5-3, in an exhibition, and Adamsville won a forfeit victory over Red Shield.

Condensed From Wire Reports

Atlanta's Charlie Bishop is back with the Athletics. The right-handed pitcher was called up Monday by the sagging American League club from Ottawa with lefty Johnny Gray. Bob Trice and Ossie Van Brabant were sent down as replacements.

Bishop has posted a 4-4 record with the International League club. Bishop was with the A's in 1952 and 1953. He and Gray joined the parent club Monday night when the Athletics traveled to Canada to play their farmhands an exhibition contest.

Trice came up at the end of the 1953 season and was expected to go great this year. But after posting a 7-8 mark he requested that he be sent back down for more "seasoning."

TOLEDO, Ohio—Bobby Thompson made his long-delayed debut for the Milwaukee Braves in an exhibition game and blasted the first pitch offered him into the center field bleachers as the Braves beat Toledo, their American Association farm club, 6-1. The spectacular return to action of the former Giant, laid up since March 13 with a triple fracture of his right ankle, came as a pinch-hitter in the fifth inning.

DALLAS—A telephone conversation involving Buddy Fogelson, Texas oilman and promoter for bringing major league baseball to Dallas, and George Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, put the silencer on publicity regarding the Texas city's interest in becoming a major league home. Trautman advised the Texas committee to hush publicity on the situation for the good of baseball in general.

CHICAGO—The White Sox sent pitcher Mike Fornieles to Charleston, W.Va., of the American Association and brought up hurler Dick Strahs as a replacement.

SACRAMENTO—Gene Desautels resigned as manager of the Sacramento baseball team of the Pacific Coast League. Coach Tony Freitas took over the duties immediately. General Manager Charles Graham said that there was no pressure on Desautels, "he made his own decision."

CLEVELAND—Major league baseball players formally organized into a group known as the Major League Baseball Players Assn. and appointed J. Norman Lewis of New York as their lawyer to officially represent them at all meetings. Ralph Kiner of the Chicago Cubs and Allie Reynolds of the New York Yankees were retained as delegates from the National and American Leagues.

Ned Neely Wins In N. Y. Net Play

NEW YORK, N.Y., July 12 (AP)—Ned Nelly of Atlanta advanced to the third round of play in the Eastern Boys' Tennis Championships in New York City Monday afternoon with a 6-1, 6-0 victory over Dee Heather of Forest Hills.

ZAHARIAS, SUGGS PLAY KIRBY, FAULK HERE

Professionals Mildred (Babe) Zaharias and Louise Suggs, two of feminine golf's greatest golfers, have been signed to play fall exhibition match here against National Amateur queen Mary Lena Faulk and former U.S. Amateur champion Dorothy Kirby.

Date of the match is Sunday, Oct. 17, day after the Auburn-Georgia Tech football game at Grant Field. Site of the exhibition has not been settled, but it will be at one of the private clubs.

The exhibition is being sponsored by the Junior Atlanta Women's Club with all proceeds above the guarantees for the two pros going to Atlanta Girls Club.

Mrs. Frank Hudson, president of Atlanta Junior Women's Club, arranged the match. She got the Babe's okay Monday by long distance telephone.

Mrs. Zaharias, who is staging a comeback after a serious cancer operation last year, captured the U.S. Women's Open 10 days ago. Miss Suggs was leading pro money-winner last year and is bidding for the honor again.

Diamond Diary

By Jesse Outlar

All-Star Jambalaya: Paul Richards, the Chicago White Sox pilot, stacked up an individual Southern Association All-Star record which probably never will be broken. While bossing the Crackers from 1938 through '42, he appeared in five straight games. He managed the host team twice, the Stars twice, and caught the '40 game for the celestial representatives.

Jesse Outlar

Richards crossed up the All-Stars in '41. He announced Emil Lochbaum as his starting pitcher, and then made Allyn Stout travel the full nine innings as a disciplinary measure. The fun-loving Stout, aware that he was pitching for his job, responded with a five-hit shutout, as Atlanta beat the Stars, 5-0. That same day, Earl Mann sold another carefree citizen named Jinx Poinsdexter to Knoxville.

WILDEST GAME on record was the 1949 slugathon in which the All-Stars obliterated Nashville, 18-6. Atlanta's Davey Williams collected a record five hits, including three doubles. . . . Larry Gilbert of Nashville managed five teams in the July classic. . . . Nashville and Atlanta are now tied as leading hosts, each entertaining the All-Stars five times. . . . Atlanta outfielder Lindsay Deal, an All-Star choice in '43, arrived in Nashville an hour and 15 minutes after the game was over. So did O. B. Keeler, the late Journal sports writer, and umpires Frank Girard and Red Jones. All were on a war-time train, which took 13 hours to make the trip from Atlanta.

Manager Willis Hudlin wasn't a bit modest when Little Rock took on the Stars in 1942. He started pitcher Willis Hudlin. . . . Back in 1939, when Whitlow Wyatt was pitching for the National League All-Stars, Memphis used seven pitchers to blank the Southern aces, 3-0. . . . Largest crowd in history of the event—16,541 — watched Shelby Kinney, Forrest Thompson, Earl McGowan and Bill Ayers collar Stars, 4-0, here in '46.

Two Crackers, Pete Modica and Jack Parks, have decided the outcome of the last two games. Parks scored the winning run, as All-Stars nipped Nashville, 8-6, last year. Modica, pitching for the Stars, walked in the winning run in the 11th inning at New Orleans in '52. . . . Remember a fellow named Mil Hicks. He was a fill-in, who had received only one vote, but crossed up the experts by homering with Bill Goodman aboard in the sixth to beat Memphis, 5-4, in the '44 game. . . . Chattanooga and Birmingham are only cities, which have never housed the game. . . . Players used to get flat rate of $25 for playing in the classic. Now they get wrist watches valued at $75.

Church Panel Approves Abolishing of 4 Colleges

By CLAUDE GEORGE SR.

A survey commission of the African Methodist-Episcopal Church has recommended four of the 10 church-affiliated colleges be abolished, according to Bishop S. L. Greene of Atlanta, president of the Bishop Council.

The council and Connectional Conference adopted a resolution, subject to approval of the General Conference which meets in Miami, Fla., in May of 1955, recommending that four of the smaller schools be abolished in order to strengthen the larger schools.

Bishop Greene

Bishop Greene said about 2,000 students attend all 10 schools.

Leading colleges include Wilberforce, Ohio; Morris Brown, Atlanta; Allen University, S. C.; Edward-Waters, Fla., and Kittrell, N. C. Other schools of the group are those at Campbell, Miss.; Paul Quinn, Tex.; Daniel Payne, Ala.; Payne Seminary, Ohio, and the R. R. Wright School of Religion in Tennessee.

Church officials, at a recent meeting, also adopted a resolution which Bishop Greene said will "revolutionize the entire church pattern."

The resolution would increase the connectional budget to include World Christian Service. It is subject to the approval of the General Conference.

Bond Vote Endorsed

Atlanta Negro Voters League unanimously endorsed the $10 million bond issue to be voted on Tuesday at a call meeting at the Butler Street YMCA.

Mayor Hartsfield said "This bond issue isn't just something trumped up. We have been planning it a long time."

South Korean Realizes 'Big Dream' Of Going Back Into U.S. Army

A 24-year-old South Korean learned here Monday that he will be able to realize his "big dream" of going back into the U.S. Army.

Shing Sang Yun, who was a guerilla fighter against the Communists in his Korea homeland at the age of 17, was told by officials of Fulton County Local Board No. 62, Selective Service System, that it will be possible for him to re-enter the Army when the local board receives his original papers from Galena, Ill.

Yun originally had been told he had been inducted previously in violation of the rules. He wants to earn enough Army service to allow him to apply for American citizenship. He served two years and 20 days in the Army previously, but needs three years service before he will be eligible for his first citizenship papers.

Yun spent most of his Army service at Ft. Benning. As a boy he helped guide American soldiers into Pusan.

Committee Sets Tuttle Hearings For Friday

Constitution Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, July 12 — The Senate Judiciary Committee will hold hearings Friday on the nomination of Elbert P. Tuttle of Atlanta, who was appointed last week by President Eisenhower to the vacancy on the Fifth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Staff members of the committee said today no opposition to the nomination is expected.

Tuttle, general counsel of the Treasury department, has revealed that he will make his home in Atlanta after becoming a member of the appellate court.

Tank Vets Plan August Reunion

Members of the World Wars Tank Corps Assn. will stage a home-coming reunion Aug. 27 and 28 at Gettysburg, Pa., where the U.S. Army formed its first Tanks Corps unit 36 years ago under the guidance of then Capt. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

President Eisenhower is expected to be present at one of the sessions. All members of the Tank Corps of either World War or the Korean War are invited.

Full information may be obtained by writing General Chairman John C. Felton, 204 Bala Ave., Bala Cynwyd, Pa., or Georgia Committeeman Eugene E. McNeel, Sea Island.

CITY HALL NEWS

New Fire Insurance Rate Cut Is Expected

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Another reduction in residential fire insurance rates in some sections of Atlanta is expected as a result of a joint meeting of the Aldermanic Board's Fire Insurance Rate Committee and Southern Underwriter officials to be held Wednesday. Insurance rates already have dropped an estimated $1,000,000 a year in outlying areas since the Plan of Improvement became operative in 1952.

Committee members have been called to meet at 3 p.m. Wednesday in the office of H. N. Pye, engineer for the underwriting association, and presession reports are that fire experts will urge more filtration capacity for the Atlanta waterworks and will announce rate reductions for new areas of the city.

Both Pye and Mayor Hartsfield Monday declined to discuss proposed developments, but there were persistent reports that present filtration facilities are being taxed "dangerously towards peak capacity" and should be increased.

Waterworks Manager Paul Weir and the board's water committee already have urged construction of a 20,000,000-gallon-a-day $6,300,000 filtration and water treatment plant at the river pumping station. It would supplement the Hemphill pumping station which has a capacity of 70,000,000 gallons a day and processes all water available to Atlanta consumers.

The Aldermanic Board's Parks Committee will defer any action on a federal court order that Negroes be permitted to use city-operated golf courses on a segregated basis, Committee Chairman Charlie Leftwich said Monday.

Leftwich said a meeting is set for 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, but that administration leaders will insist that a projected move to allow Negroes to use the courses on certain days be postponed until the 30-day period in which appeals from the decision can be made has expired.

Beer, Wine Permits

Demand for revocation of the beer and wine sale permits for three establishments is scheduled to feature a meeting of the Aldermanic Board's Police Committee at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Police Station. At stake will be the beer and wine sale permits issued to the B.&G. Cafe, 731 Marietta St., NW, and the Buckhead Fruit Co., 2989 Peachtree Rd., NE, and the beer sale permit held by Eddie's Place, 256 Northside Dr., SW. All are charged with violation of city ordinances.

Antislum Move

Slum Clearance Committee Chairman John A. White Monday said he will demand that all "back alley" residences classified as beyond repair be eliminated next year.

Action PROOF of extra power

Remember: The part of any gasoline that evaporates first, in hot weather, is extra-high octane . . . a part you need for smooth, thrifty, knock-free performance in modern, high-compression engines. Guard that vital power part—get Summer-Formula Gulf NO-NOX, the gasoline that's specially made to resist hot-weather evaporation.

1. Watch: These test cars are twins—same make and model. One is tuned for Summer-Formula Gulf NO-NOX, the other for regular grade gasoline.

2. They're off! Both cars hit the starting line at the same speed, and then—full throttle—with the helicopter's cameraman recording the results.

3. Remember this showdown test!

BEFORE CURTAIN TIME AT "SONG OF NORWAY"
L-R: George Beattie, Bettye Hairston, Arthur Hammond, Get Set for Opening

'Song of Norway' a Hit At Park Amphitheater

By PAUL JONES

The Theater Under the Stars, which had a fabulously successful opening with "Oklahoma," pulled back the curtain Monday night on another beautiful outdoor production, "Song of Norway."

The production of this operetta, based on the life and music of Edward Grieg, is far superior to the opening Rodgers and Hammerstein show. To be sure, Broadway has seldom seen a show with as many great tunes as "Oklahoma," but the setting, costumes, music and ballet in "Norway" are among the most eye-catching and ear-filling we have ever seen or heard. The show at the Chastain Amphitheater was exquisite in every detail.

Producer-director Eric Mattson has come up with another great cast of singing stars headed by Bettye Hairston, John Elliott, Eileen Schauler and Arthur Hammond. Each of these stars was superb vocally and histrionically.

One of the high points of the show was the second-act comedy scene played by Jay Celie and Leslie Litony

The dancing of the ballet ensemble was beautifully staged, especially Pittman Corry's "Freddy and His Fiddle" and Miss Karen Conrad's "Anitra's Dance" selection.

Albert Coleman, who spent the last five days rewriting the orchestration, did a wonderful job in directing the orchestra and the show. The singing ensemble gave excellent support. Jimmy Edwards, playing "Grieg's Concerto," provided a melodious climax to an evening of perfect entertainment.

The settings, most impressive ever employed in the park performances, were the work of George Beattie, Atlanta paitner.

"Song of Norway" will be presented again each night this week at the Amphitheater.

Atlanta Women Slugged, Raped On Alabama Road

TUSKEGEE, Ala., July 12 (AP)—A young Atlanta, Ga., woman was beaten unconscious and raped on a lonely Macon County road last night by a middle-aged white man, Sheriff Preston Hornsby said today.

Her attacker got away, leaving her lying beside the road near Shorter, Ala., the sheriff said.

The victim recently finished business school in Atlanta and had gone to Columbus to look for a job, when the man picked her up in the bus station, the sheriff said.

Hard of Hearing?

Would you try to fit your own eyeglasses? With several hundred lens combinations to choose from, it would be an endless and confusing task—even if you could be sure that what you like, when you try it on, would be the best for you.

Hearing aids must be fitted, too (Government agencies and medical clinics insist on the fitting practice). Many manufacturers cheapen their instruments by leaving out fitting controls, attempting to justify it with the claim that fittings are unnecessary.

All Sonotone instruments provide several hundred fitting combinations. Sonotone Hearing Aid Consultants are trained in the measurement of hearing losses and the fitting of the proper instrument to bring you the best possible results. Defective ears are a poor judge of what is best, regardless of how the instrument first sounds when you try it on.

If you want what is best for your needs, Sonotone Hearing Aid Consultants are trained in restoring your hearing to as near normal as possible and in keeping it there. Why accept less?

Linder Suggests State Aid Small Plants in Marketing

By M. L. ST. JOHN
Constitution Political Editor

BLUE RIDGE, July 12—Gubernatorial candidate Tom Linder Monday night proposed that the state help market the products of Georgia's small industries just as it now aids in marketing the products of Georgia farmers.

The candidate, addressing the Blue Ridge Kiwanis Club, defended state highway contracts with counties and skipped the school segregation matter with this comment:

"You already know my views on that, and you have little problem with segregation in this section where most of the people are white."

The civic club talk, given on the northern rim of the state, was the first by Linder since he opened his campaign with a barbecue at Hazlehurst in south Georgia July 3.

KEYED TO PROSPERITY

Linder's talk to the businessmen was keyed entirely to increasing Georgia's prosperity so that it, in turn, would finance expansion of state services.

The state government's revenue is entirely dependent on sales and income taxes, he pointed out. Therefore, the state's operations is entirely dependent upon business conditions, including wages earned by workers and prices received by farmers, he observed.

"The expansion of our schools, roads, health and welfare programs depends on the general economic condition," the candidate went on.

"All of these services must be paid for by us, and in direct ratio to our purchasing power. When we get a raise, the state revenue gets a raise, and when out pay is cut, the state revenue is cut."

OBVIOUS APPROACH

"Therefore," Linder said, "the obvious way to tackle the problem of financing more state services is to do something to improve the general prosperity of the state."

To do this, Linder, who as commissioner of agriculture guided the development of the broad system of farm markets, proposed that the state find markets for products of small industries located in little towns. With a promotional program, the state would, in a sense, act as salesmen for those little industries which are financially unable to maintain a sales force to travel the nation.

In defending county road contracts, Linder, without calling any names, supported State Highway Chairman Jim Gillis, who has been attacked by gubernatorial candidate Charlie Gowen. Gowen had hit Gillis for "negotiated" contracts.

FIXED BY LAW

"There's been something said about negotiated contracts for counties," Linder told the Kiwanis Club. "There really is no such thing. The legislature passed a law providing that the counties could not get more than the average cost per unit which private contractors receive. This is not negotiation between the highway department and the counties—it is a price fixed by law."

If it wasn't for getting road contracts for the prisoners, counties could not build needed roads. they couldn't buy road machinery, and they would have to return the prisoners to Reidsville, Linder said. The state would have to build a greater prison to house them, and would have nothing to keep them busy.

Brooke Davis, vice president of the club, presided at the dinner meeting.

Mediation Resumed in Trade Strike

A federal mediator said Monday his office has resumed efforts to set up talks between contractors and representatives of some 8,000 Georgia building trades workers who quit their jobs 12 days ago.

Sloan G. Springfield, of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, said he talked with union and contracting officials Monday and hoped to make an announcement of progress in the dispute later this week.

Use of Veterans' Records Charged in Barrett Race

A former secretary in the State Veterans Service Department's Cedartown office Monday turned over to the State Board of Veterans Services information charging that some 3,000 veterans' records were removed from the office to make a mailing list for W. K. (Billy) Barrett's campaign for lieutenant governor.

Barrett, who recently resigned as state veterans service director to run for Georgia's second highest office, promptly denied that records were removed from the Cedartown office for use in his campaign.

The former secretary, who was dismissed from her job on the recommendation of James L. Raper, manager of the Cedartown office, is Mrs. G. B. Hendrix.

EXPENSE ACCOUNTS

She also submitted to Fulton Civil Judge A. L. Henson, chairman of the Veterans Service Board, copies of office files and affidavits purporting to show the padding of expense accounts by the Cedartown manager.

Frank Morrison, Atlanta attorney representing Mrs. Hendrix, said she was not submitting the material as a "prosecutor" but in order that the board might "properly police its own organization."

INFORMAL MEETING

The information was submitted to back up charges made by Mrs. Hendrix at an informal meeting May 12 in Barrett's office. Judge Henson was selected by the board to hold Monday's hearing and report the findings to the board.

Among the letters Mrs. Hendrix submitted was a copy of one purported to have been written by Raper on July 10, 1953, and addressed to Barrett, in which Raper told of making arrangements with Polk County Sol. Dan Winn to have a mailing list made up from the veterans office files so "no one will know about it."

QUESTION OF VALUE

The letter from Raper said that "I feel the mailing list would be of value to you next year."

Barrett said the only list compiled at his direction was one of 300 veterans who had benefited under the GI training program. Letters were mailed to these individually last year asking them to remind Korean war veterans of the Aug. 20 cut-off date for training, he said.

He said he does not have the mailing list and charged that Mrs. Hendrix' accusations were "the work of a disgruntled employe."

OFFERED TRANSFER

Barrett said he offered to transfer Mrs. Hendrix to the Atlanta office after the Cedartown manager had recommended her dismissal because she was "incompatible."

He said he did not receive a letter from Raper suggesting that office files be used for his campaign.

At Cedartown, Solicitor Winn said the list in question was typed in his courthouse office by his secretary but contended he knew nothing about the purpose for which it was to be used.

Gowen Sees 'Isms' in School Shift

STATESBORO, July 12—Conversion of Georgia's public school system into a series of privately run institutions would constitute an invitation to the Communists to come on down to Georgia and take the schools over, candidate for governor Charles Gowen said Monday.

Gowen spoke twice in this college town, once before the Rotary club and again at the courthouse. He also gave addresses at Portal and Brooklet, also in Bulloch County. In all his talks he stressed the importance of keeping public schools public.

He said the passage of the private school amendment would doom the educational system of Georgia.

"The disciples of the various 'isms'—all of which seem to be well financed—would send their people to Georgia to infiltrate the schools under private ownership," he said.

President Eisenhower and Sen. McCarthy disagree on most points, Gowen stated, but they do agree on one thing—each is as fearful as the other on Red influence in the public schools.

A change-over from public to private schools would mean the end of the Minimum Foundation guarantee that rural education is as good as urban education, he said.

By JACK SPALDING
Constitution Staff Writer

"It would condemn the youth of small towns and country districts to an inferior education. It might work in cities, but not in the country. The abandonment of public schools also would mean the end of vocational education, vocational rehabilitation, the school lunch program and would imperil the Teachers Retirement Fund," the candidate said.

Segregation is the greatest challenge the South has faced since the War Between the States, Gowen declared.

The people can follow two courses, he added. One is to do away with the school system. The other is follow his plan of allowing local school superintendents to assign students to various schools.

He described the Gowen plan as "legal, simple and one that will work," and said it has been adopted in substance by Louisiana and Mississippi.

Gowen does not believe that Negroes want their children forced into white schools, and recommended the appointment of Negro advisory committees in each county to work with the superintendent of schools in allocating the children.

The removal of schools from public control is dangerous in many respects, the candidate said, but particularly dangerous in this: The people would lose their right to say what courses and ideologies would be taught in the schools, and who would teach their children during their formative years.

The constitution of 1877 marked the return of white rule in Georgia, and written in was the charter of public education, Gowen said.

"Will you strike it out now?" he asked his Bulloch County audience. "Will you give Georgia Teachers College to private individuals to run as they see fit?"

"We can maintain Southern institutions and traditions by my plan, and by inviting the cooperation of Negroes," Gowen said.

Barrett Hits Lobbyists in TV Speech

William K. (Billy) Barrett, former state veterans service director now running for lieutenant governor, presented over WSB-TV Monday night a film of his campaign opener in Augusta at which he promised to "rid the Georgia Legislature of the evil influence of lobbyists."

Barrett said lobbyists have ignored since 1941 a law requiring them to register with the secretary of state.

At the Augusta dinner, attended by 1,135 persons, $8,600 was contributed to Barrett's campaign.

Prior to his television program, Barrett slapped at gubernatorial candidate Fred Hand for criticizing the administration of the veterans service office.

"Criticism of veterans affairs comes with very poor grace from Mr. Hand," Barrett said. "During my five years as director of this department, Mr. Hand never set foot in the veterans service office.

"Any information he has concerning this department of necessity must be secondhand," Barrett added, "as his name is not listed among the more than 400,000 Georgia veterans of any war.

"I would suggest to Mr. Roy V. Harris (Hand's campaign manager), that if he is to have another of his stooges attack me that he select one who is familiar with the subject of veterans affairs."

Mayor Urges Heavy Vote On Bonds

Mayor Hartsfield and civic organizations Monday urged a heavy vote in Wednesday's $10,000,000 bond election for public improvements.

Spearheaded by the mayor, the Metropolitan Voting Council, the Atlanta League of Women Voters and the Atlanta Public School Teachers' Association joined in an appeal for turnout of a larger percentage of the 117,260 registered voters, but ovsservers continued to predict a "relatively light vote."

It was regarded as reasonably certain, however, that the issue will be approved because the new state constitution requires only a simple majority of those voting.

Voting precincts will be maintained at 67 places with polls opening at 7 a.m. and closing at 8 p.m. Hand ballots will be used instead of voting machines.

Voting will be on four different allocations, as follows:

Schools, $5,000,000; traffic improvements, $2,000,000; sewers, $2,000,000, and $1,000,000 for construction of a new municipal traffic court and new land adjacent to the City Hall and Police Station.

Clifford Oxford, Voting Council chairman, advised voters whose precinct lines have been changed to contact registrars to avoid confusion. More than 60,000 notifications of precinct changes have been mailed out, but Oxford's proposal was to "avoid confusion."

"We should have a good turnout to get a civic indorsement of the bond issue," Mayor Hartsfield said. "I hope a large majority of the voters do exercise their right to vote, and I urge those voting to support the issues. We, of course, could not vote sufficient bonds to meet our needs without an increase in taxes, but we have asked for all we could without forcing an increase. All the purposes for which funds are earmarked are worthy and are needed."

Mrs. Dorothy Floyd, president of the Atlanta Public School Teachers' Association, said teachers are "urgently hopeful" that the school bonds will be approved. She asserted schools will be in a desperate condition if funds for expansion are not forthcoming.

Adventure Offered in Diet Plans

By IDA JEAN KAIN

If you have been overweight for many a summer, come along on a slimming adventure. Fetch a suitcase from the attic, and put it on the scales. Then pile in books to equal the total amount of your excess weight.

Just those two things — seeing the size of the burden and facing the fact that every summer you've planned to slim down—should jolt you into reducing.

If you are more than a dozen pounds above your desirable weight, make an appointment with the doctor and have a check-up.

BREAKFAST

Orange juice, 4 oz. (½ glass)
(Fresh, canned or frozen)
Egg, 1 or 2
Toast, 1 thin slice
Butter, ½ pat, ¼" thick
Coffee, black
Note: If allergic to eggs, substitute ¾ cup cereal, ½ cup whole milk, 1 tsp. sugar for egg and toast.

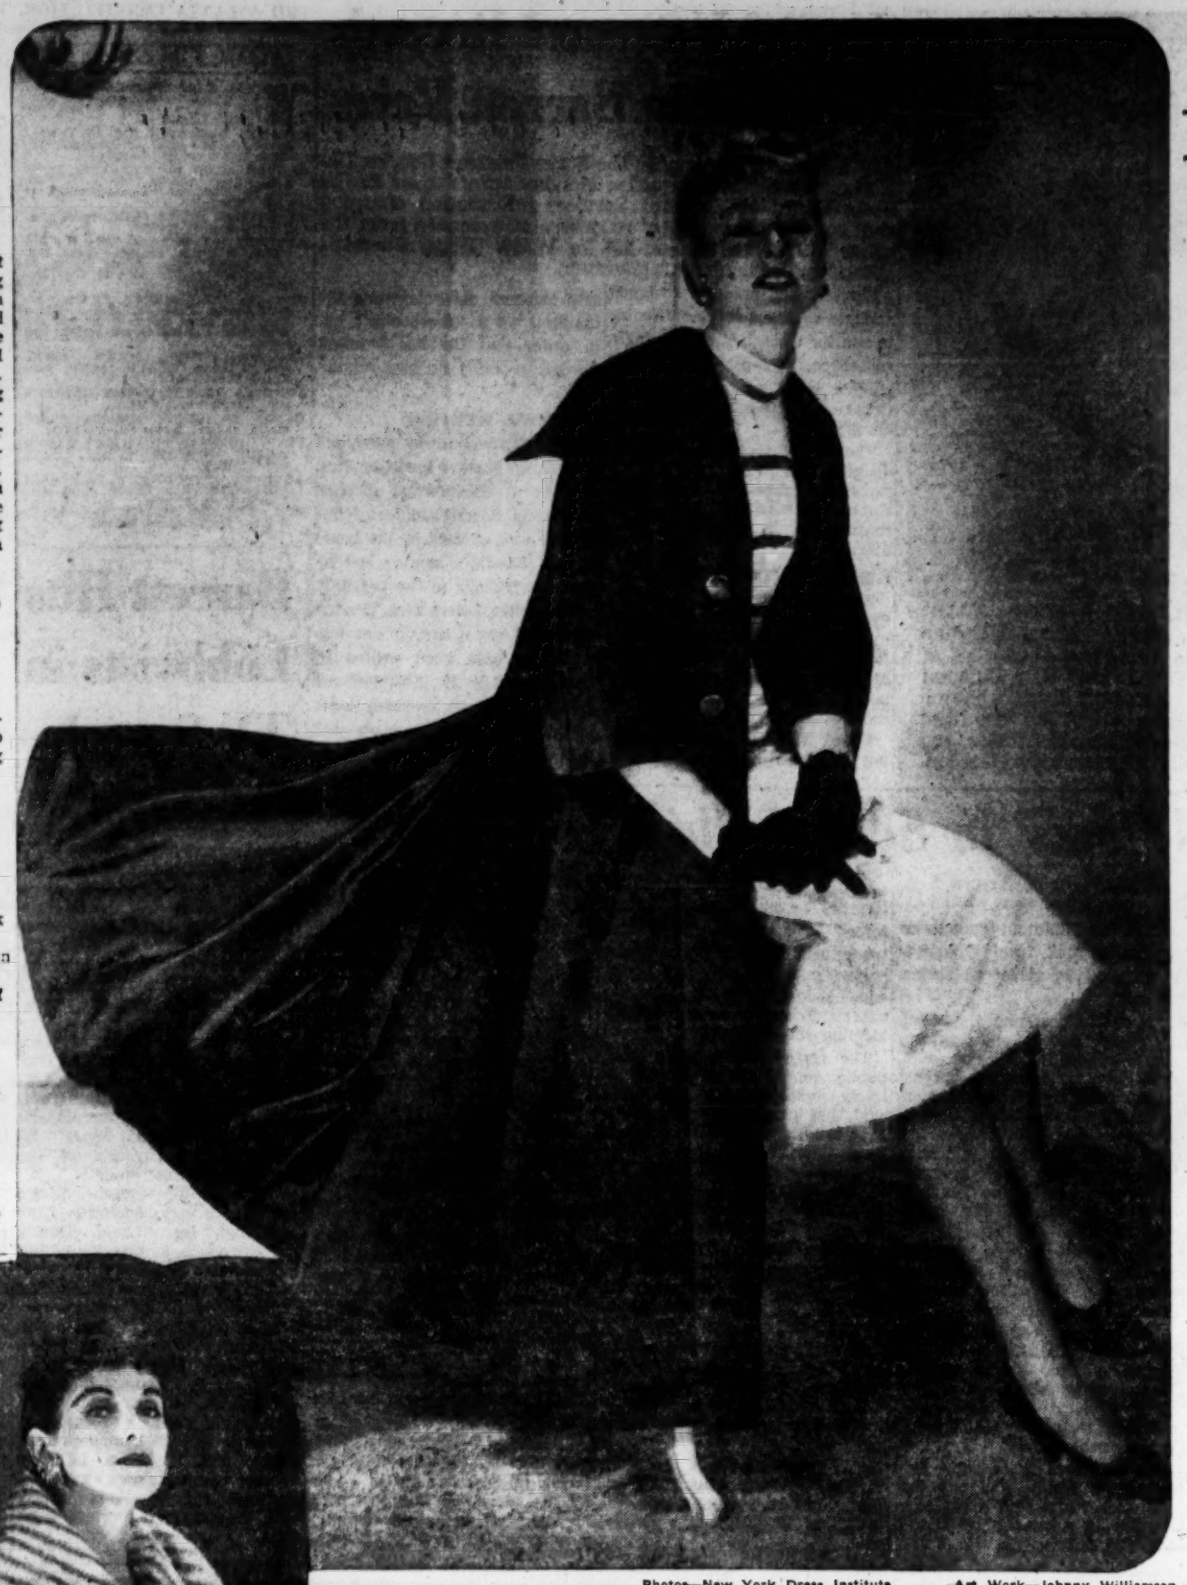

LUNCHEON

Swiss cheese on rye*
1 oz. cheese (2 thin slices)
2 thin slices bread
Mustard - lettuce
Crisp celery and radishes
Glass of skim milk or buttermilk
Cantaloupe, small wedge
*If day is chilly, broil American cheese on 1 thin slice bread.

4:00—Energy pick-up, glass of skim milk or buttermilk.

DINNER

Shoulder lamb chop, large, broiled
Baby carrots, 3 small with chopped parsley
Butter, ½ pat, ¼" thick
Green beans, liberal serving
Sliced tomato
Ripe peach, sugar 1 tsp.

Dixie Allure Impresses N. Y. Star

By BETTY CARROLLTON

And you don't need a 21-inch waistline to captivate men—including Yankees.

A brave New York resident, here to star in the Municipal Theater Under the Stars production "Song of Norway," declares that Rebel lassies lead the field in charm and beauty.

Tall, blue-eyed Arthur Hammond has roamed the country as a singer to the accompaniment of pitter-patter of female hearts in an age range from sweet sixteens to sophisticated sixties. But his heart belongs to a Southerner—as he always knew it would.

"My admiration for women below the Mason-Dixon Line is the real thing," he says. "I've always found them fascinating. Southern women possess a certain warmth, charm and naivete that few Northern women have."

NATURAL BEAUTY

"As for beauty," he continues, "women in the South have a natural beauty that is found nowhere else. The beautiful New Yorkers can't quite measure up—their beauty is too obviously artifical."

And here's a tip to transplanted Southerners: hang on to that accent if you want to hook a man.

"Southerners' languidness of expression in manner and voice is very appealing," Arthur says.

Domestic qualities possessed by daughters of the Confederacy are requirements of a perfect wife, the tenor believes and are probably a throwback to old world women.

"Dixie belles have a special knack for making a man feel he is king in his home," the singer declares. "In addition, they are a practical lot. They know how to make a man happy. After all, it is far more important to live in a home than to just ornament it."

"The perfect wife is found only in the South," he fearlessly asserts.

Polly, Arthur's wife, is a native of McComb, Miss., and they have been "very happily married" for nearly five years.

SEVERE CRITIC

"Polly is my most severe critic," Arthur declares, "but she is very constructive with her criticism."

The Hammonds maintain a four-room apartment in New York, which they decorated themselves. While they both prefer a rural setting, they do not plan to leave the city any time soon. "New York is the mecca for show business," Arthur explains, "and we live there out of necessity."

"We also eat grits," he adds.

Mr. and Mrs. Hammond are camera bugs and enjoy fishing trips.

"We don't care much for night clubs," Arthur says.

Cassini Colors Flying In Style Sweepstakes

By JEAN DIETRICH
Constitution Women's Editor

NEW YORK, July 12—Winners can't be picked yet in the fall and winter sweepstakes that began this morning.

But it's already clear the New York Dress Institute, sponsors of the event, should have headquarters at Yonkers Raceway instead of the plush Hotel Pierre.

BETTER THAN DIETING

He has discovered something better than dieting for whittling the waistline—the elastic cumberbund. "Corset on top of the dress," Cassini calls it.

Shining example of the elastic look is a high-neck black wool dress with long sleeves. The waist is nipped in by a black satin cumberbund and a small, white satin collar adorns the neck.

Black and contrasting bands of orange and yellow knit at the neckline. White satin bolero sheath with red tie. Remove the bolero and discover a bright red velvet bodice embroidered in gold like a Renaissance tapestry.

In addition to sheath dresses that will go anywhere, to work or to cocktails, Cassini introduced formal dresses that are alternately swooping and slim.

Names for Cassini's dresses are as intriguing as his styles: "Private Schine," "What's My Line," "I've Got a Secret" (you find out what it is when bolero is removed!), "Robin Hood" and Casablanca" are a few.

Oversize wrappy collars adorn straight-lined slim coats. Wrap, by the way, is a word that keeps cropping up. Fall clothes all wrap and tie, or button from chin to hem.

BLOUSED EFFECT

One new model is a convertible with a strap you can put on or take off. Tiny grille in metallic leather decorates the vamp and low V-8 heels are designed for high-powered walking.

The wrap and tie idea is used in dresses and in tops of separates—easy to get into and easy to wear.

His winter play clothes are enough to make even a magnolia-in-the-moonlight Atlanta belle take to the country to split fence rails. Tapered trousers of fleece, whipcord and herringbone corduroy are worn with short top coats in tweed, velveteen, fleece and smooth black coating.

That's the best news so far!

Pilot Club Members Plan Boston Convention Trip

Five members of the Atlanta Pilot Club will join over 1,000 members of Pilot International at their 33rd annual convention in Boston, Mass., July 14-17.

Nell Argue, president of the Atlanta club, will head the local delegation. Other members attending from Atlanta include Martha Edge, Mrs. Mamie K. Taylor and Mrs. Fay T. Barrett, both past International presidents, and Mrs. Frances Kreeger, past president of the Atlanta group.

Delegates from Canada, England and other countries will attend the convention of Pilot International, a service club for executive business and professional women.

Mrs. Marguerite Dimmerling, International president from Beaumont, Tex., will preside over the meeting.

The convention theme, "Our Faith—the Key to the Future," will also be the topic of Martha Allen, national director of the Camp Fire Girls, when she speaks at a banquet Saturday.

Miss Edge, Miss Argue and Mrs. Kreeger will tour New England following the convention.

Club Luncheon

The Officers' Wives Club, Naval Air Station, will hold the monthly luncheon and business meeting Wednesday at 12 noon at the Officers' Club.

Anne Fogarty party taffeta, $25

'Social Thought' Gives Pause

The lady who lent me a copy of Dr. Rollin Chambliss' new book, "Social Thought," either underestimated me or the book. She said she thought I might be interested in seeing it, having a pleasant acquaintance with the author, who teaches sociology at the University of Georgia, and his wife and two young sons. But she doubted that I would want to keep it.

I doubted it, too, being essentially a light-minded female who likes books—be they poetry, murder or romance—that incite me to tears or laughter. "Social Thought," I expected, would be significant, penetrating, learned, impeccably written and . . . well, dull.

How wrong I was!

Rollin Chambliss has written himself a perfectly fascinating book about the behavior and beliefs of people who have preceded us on this earth. It begins with Babylonia thousands of years before the birth of Christ and runs through the time of Auguste Comte, the Frenchman who lived from 1798 to 1857, and among other things coined the word "sociology." (I liked Dr. Chambliss' way of dismissing that: ". . . that fact is of itself of little importance; perhaps some other word would have served as well.")

He covers ancient Egypt, Confucius, India, the Hebrews of the Old Testament, Plato, Aristotle, Rome, Augustine, Thomas Aquinas and down through the Renaissance and Reformance to John Locke, the Englishman who wrote his own epitaph, "Brought up among letters he advanced just so far as to make an acceptable offering to truth alone."

He gives a chapter to Giambattista Vico, the Italian who believed in the "vulgar wisdom" or the common nature of nations. And all through the book he deals warmly and humorously, as well as specifically, with how these men of thought and science influenced the manners and customs of their day. Ideas on government, economy, social classes, agriculture and even family life and the stature of women are set forth in a way that I found enormously interesting.

In the time of Hammurabi (2123-2080 B. C.), for instance, Lex Talionis or the law of retaliation was shockingly enforced. ("The principal of equivalent retaliation, an eye for an eye, is rooted deep in human nature," writes Dr. Chambliss. "The most enlightened peoples, no less than savages, take care to see that those who have done wrong atone in suffering for their misdeeds, as though expiation removed guilt. Our own speech is repleted with expressions that reveal a deep-seated satisfaction in this even-handed justice.")

If a physician was unsuccessful in an operation he attempted he lost his fingers. Peeping Toms suffered the removal of an eye. Ingrates had their tongues cut off. And in the face of that kind of carryings-on they did amazingly well by their women!

"Babylonian women possessed, 2,000 years before the Christian era," says Dr. Chambliss, "many rights which they have gained but recently in some of the more enlightened societies of our own time. In the Age of Hammurabi a woman, whether married or single, could operate an independent business, own slaves, control an estate, buy and sell property in her own name, make a will, carry her grievances to court, retain possession or her legacy, adopt a son or a daughter and in general enjoy the priviledegs of men. Her personal integrity and inherent dignity as an individual were fully recognized."

Although a textbook, aimed at educating the young, Dr. Chambliss' "Social Thought" is one I'd be pleased to have around to reread, but other women might do well to wrap it up in the jacket off a gooey love story to keep their husbands from reading it. No use letting them see what the boys got away with in other days.

TEEN-AGERS TRY OUT BROADCASTING IN FRENCH CLASSES

Teenagers Tutored in French

By YOLANDE GWIN

French menus will be no problem to six diet-minded teenagers.

They have given up part of those treasured moments of every schoolgirl — vacation — to take a special course in French at Emory University. They are making recordings of their progress.

PRACTICAL FRENCH

"We want real practical French that is used in everyday life," they agreed during a "break" in the classwork over the weekend.

"And I want to be able to read anything I want to in French," added one of the girls, Connie Mitchell, who said she had always "longed" to speak the language.

In the class, in addition to Connie, are Susan Pegram, Louise Staton, who will be freshmen at Westminster in the fall; Linda Venable and Dottie Warnock, who will be freshmen at Northside High, and Betsy Crist, now of Birmingham's Ramsey High School, whi is visiting at the Mitchell home on West Wesley Road.

"We are trying to cover as much of Paris and of France as we can," said Frances Clark, of Decatur, the class instructor. "By means of a map we are able to take a word tour over the sections and discuss our findings, in French of course."

Miss Clark has her masters degree in languages from Yale University and spent last year in France on a Fullbright scholarship.

STARTED TWO YEARS AGO

The program at Emory is a teacher training project, begun two years ago by the elementary language department of the Atlanta city schools.

"We set the program to create a bond among nations," commented Miss Evelyn Ewing, coordinator of the foreign languages of the elementary schools. "It promotes sympathy, understanding and tolerance. We feel that children in Atlanta schools will develop an interest in peoples of other countries. It also makes pupils pronunciation conscious."

Couple Weds At Ellijay

ELLIJAY, July 12—At an afternoon ceremony solemnized at the Watkins Memorial Methodist Church here, Miss Maxine McElreath became the bride of Lawton Baggs, with the Rev. W. D. Gray officiating.

Following the service, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Holt entertained at a reception in the church parlors for their stepdaughter and Mr. Baggs.

Mr. Holt gave the bride in marriage, and Miss Shirley Willis was her maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Marjorie Bailey and Ruth Hyatt. Vivian Holt, small stepsister of the bride, was flower girl and Richie Holt, a stepbrother, was ringbearer.

Elmer Taylor was best man, and ushering were John Bailey, Archie Weeks, James Holt and Dan Sanford.

After a Southern wedding trip, the couple will reside in Blackshear until September when they will go to Davidson, N.C., where Mr. Baggs will enter Davidson College on a two-year scholarship. Both the bride and Mr. Baggs were graduated in June from Young Harris College.

Business Club Plans Meeting

The Business and Professional Women's Club of Atlanta will hold its annual outdoor meeting at East Lake Country Club Wednesday afternoon.

Dinner will be served on the terrace at 7 p.m.

Your Stars Today

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! An expansive year, and also expensive if you follow your impulses. Be cautious in spending at end of August and again in October.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Accent is on news or travel so plan, write or discuss, but make allowances for rapidly changing circumstances.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Things begin to brighten up socially for a few weeks. Keep to routine matters. Evening trends bumpy.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Other people demand your attention and may cause friction. Start to improve home or plan entertainment ahead.

CANCER (June 22 - July 22). Rather hard to keep at the job when you have so many ideas, but concentration and direction necessary.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). The beginning of several weeks of added popularity. Pay attention to grooming. Tonight avoid home irritations.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22). Clear up paper work, get around contacing people or public. In later hours use caution traveling.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21). Some friends may bring pleasant note to picture in next few weeks. Tonight curb urge to speak recklessly.

SAGITARIUS (Nov. 11-Dec. 21). If you got up stream yesterday now you can go to town, but get going early as later things are frustrating.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19). Wait until tomorrow to act or speak up. Be especially careful in the late hours not to speak out of turn.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Mildly social but do not make late dates as evening hours hold promise of enmity or unpleasant gossip.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 29.) Business still up in front. Partner or mate brings favorable cooperation in next few weeks.

Brenau To Plan Wedding

GAINESVILLE, July 12—Brenau is a college of traditions. And one of the oldest and strongest of these traditions is the laughter, sighs and excitement that goes with the springtime showing of engagement rings.

But somehow when the orange blossoms were arranged, when the crowds gathered and the vows were said, somehow when all this happened, Brenau was quiet and left out.

For most of the girls went to their home towns, or for those in Gainesville it was the churches, to be married.

Till this year.

This year there will be laughter and tears, wedding music and soft lights, the rustle of the wedding dress and the tones of the repeated "I do."

Come Aug. 21, Miss Jo Sharp will wed Charles Jaquith in Brenau's Yonah Hall.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Dean and Mrs. J. Worth Sharp. Dean Sharp, whose lithe and loose-jointed walk seems to be propelled by the puffing pipe that precedes him, has a quiet wit and humor that are Brenau traditions in themselves.

And the future bridegroom has been preceded at Brenau by many battalions of his own clan. He was a teacher at Gainesville's Riverside Military Academy.

For Brenau, who has seen the engagements of 76 springtimes and yet was always absent for the wedding, it will be a joyous and significant occasion. And if colleges are human enough to cry, Brenau will probably shed a few tears of happiness.

Miss Cawthon Is Married

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cawthon of East Point announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Barbara Jeanne Cawthon, to Carl Harold Taylor, son of Mrs. Eleanor Carroll and the late James H. Taylor of Savannah.

The couple will reside in Savannah.

HOW A WIFE CAN HOLD ON TO MARRIED HAPPINESS

In this modern age—every wife should know how important douching with ZONITE is for feminine hygiene, her health, married happiness and after her monthly periods. She should realize that weak, ineffective homemade mixtures DO NOT and CAN NOT give the great germicidal and deodorizing action of ZONITE.
Neither should she resort to overstrong solutions of harmful poisons. ZONITE is one douche proved safe to the most delicate tissues. It's positively non-poisonous, non-irritating. No other type liquid antiseptic-germicide for the douche of all those tested is MORE powerful yet SO SAFE to tissues.
ZONITE completely deodorizes. It promptly washes away germs and waste deposits, leaving you feeling so refreshed and dainty. Highly recommended among nurses! Use as directed.

RADIO REVIEW

DIXIE BEST

WEBB

DRAGNET continues to rate as the most popular mystery-crime show on the air despite the fact that its producer, Jack Webb, is one of the youngest creators and stars in the radio world. This highly paid, exacting executive who stars in his own presentations—is just 34 years old. His birthday comes on April 2 and he is one of those rare birds in Hollywood—a native Californian, hailing from Santa Monica. Jack and his pal, Frank Smith, will be on the air via WSB Radio tonight at 9 with another dramatically underplayed case history from the police files.

THIS SOUNDS BACKWARD! That great and popular American institution—the coffee break—has become a thing of the past for George Fogle, director of radio's old dependable "One Man's Family" (WSB Radio, Monday through Friday at 7:45 p. m.). Until recently, "Uncle George," as the cast calls him, thought nothing of tossing down a couple of dozen cups of coffee every day. That goes to show you the kind of salaries people get in Hollywood—but that has nothing to do with the story. It seems George was placed on a very strict new diet by his doctor—a diet of NO coffee and more food. So what happened? He's already dropped six pounds!

WATCH THE PAPERS SUNDAY! We know a secret at WSB everybody is about to burst wide open trying to hold off telling until the deadline next Sunday. But we can tell you this much—it's going to mean something great for Atlanta and the South and it's going to bring a lot of pride and pleasure to you as well as me! You'll learn all about it in the Sunday Journal and Constitution.

ADAMS

SPEND A MILLION, the new Wednesday-night-at-8:30 show on the Voice of the South, is a fun-provoking, audience-participation program with a reverse twist—and with Comedian Joey Adams as emcee.

In this new deal, three contestants each week—chosen on the basis of their odd occupations—are given a million dollars each in play money to spend during the show. Whoever "spends" the most—and goes completely broke—wins a jackpot of valuable merchandise. And the guy who winds up with the most money—gets the booby prize! You'll have to tune in to learn how Joey works it—but you'll find it a great addition to your summer radio listening.

No TV for Gary in Fall, Bing Says

Bing Crosby tells me that son Gary, despite talk, won't be available for any fall TV shots. "It's his last year in school," points out Bing, "and a busy one for him if he's going to get a diploma, so I'm really averse to him taking on any work which will distract him from this much more important aim."

Bing says that as soon as he recovers from the kidney stone operation, he's going up to the ranch for the summer. The operation wrecked his recent siege of subpar golf. . . . Wife of French Premier Mendes-France lived as a Jewish refugee in New York City between 1940 and 1944, made a living as a society painter. . . . Winter Garden becomes a movie house next month.

Baseball vets say that Charlie Dressen was smarter than he knew when he walked into the contract argument with the Dodger front office. Some feel he sensed his team had passed the peak. It is likely that the Dodger management will be seeking him again. . . . Jose Ferrer in town with Rosemary. His "Shrike" postponed again at Universal.

Jeff Donnell and Aldo Ray planning fall marriage. . . . Pulitzer winner Bruce ("A Stillness at Appomattox") Catton to complete 4-volume biog of Grant begun by the late Lloyd Lewis. . . . Favorite convention photos of visiting Lions; posing in front of lions' cages at Central Park Zoo.

Jane Withers dividing her time between Iranian Princess Pahlevi and Kashani. . . .Mrs. Milton Berle wearing a neckpiece which reads, "I am a Giant fan." Milton wearing a small button that says, "Me too."

Gary Cooper says he's going to play golf and go fishing all summer in Southampton. . . . Louis Armstrong's "The Whiffenpoof Song" a Decca click. . . . Robert Sweeny and Pamela Curran a Spindle-top combo. . . . London producers of "Dream Girl" want Julie Harris for the lead.

Pat McVey Appears in New Series

Heart of the City, a newspaper-adventure drama, makes its debut as a regular Tuesday night weekly feature at 10:30 p.m. on WSB-TV with Pat McVey and Jane Nigh co-starred as editor Steve Wilson and reporter Lorelei Kilbourne of the Illustrated Press.

In the first drama, Tony Maldin, a two-time loser, has been released from prison and is now living with his respectable brother, an auto mechanic.

When Tony and his brother deliver a car to a customer, the police pick them up, saying that it is a stolen vehicle. Tony is subject to an early return to prison for his unscrupulous machinations.

Wanted: 1000 Skinny People to Gain Solid Pounds of Flesh!
If you're thin . . . skinny . . . and often embarrassed because you're underweight, how would you like to really put on weight . . . put new firm pounds on your chest, hips, arms and legs—your whole body? A few months ago an amazing new high calorie weight-adding tonic was introduced to help nutritionally underweight people. It's called POUNDEX. Seldom has a product received such praise from users! That's the real test of a product. As many as 300 cards and letters arrive every day from actual users with such praise as: "I gained 12 pounds." "I gained 16 pounds." "Gained 10 pounds . . . still gaining!"
Here's the reason for this praise. POUNDEX is not just another vitamin preparation. NOT an ordinary tonic! POUNDEX is especially compounded with 4 of the most amazing weight-gaining aids known to medical science. You just take it once or twice a day. Within 24 hours its fast-acting potent ingredients appear in your blood stream, rushing tissue-building body-building factors to the very parts of your body that need them most.
POUNDEX contains growth vitamin B12 used so successfully on underweight children. It contains 10 times your daily minimum requirements of blood-building iron. More amazing, it contains in concentrated, easy-to-digest form, all the weight adding calories of a full meal in every day's dose! And, above all, it contains fat-making calorie malt . . . the priceless ingredient that helps your body turn the food you eat into flesh instead of being wasted. THAT'S the secret of putting on weight.
In only a few months half a million people have insisted on POUNDEX to put on weight! Such an amazing success is proof Poundex works! If you really want to gain weight . . . to add solid pounds on your arms, legs, chest, hips . . . your entire body . . . if you want to feel better . . . tone up your body . . . have new pep . . . new vitality . . . get high potency Poundex at your drug store today. Your money back if you don't gain. IMPORTANT: Insist on genuine POUNDEX for extra pounds. Nothing else is just the same or almost as good. Poundex is compounded exclusively for underweight men, women and children.

Drunken Boat Drivers Warned

Constitution State News Service

GAINESVILLE, July 12—A crackdown on drinking and driving boats is under way in north Georgia.

W. E. Murphree, chief of the Mountain District for the Georgia Fish and Game Commission, said, "We're going to enforce that law to a 'T'."

Constitution State News Service

VIDALIA, Ga., July 12—Although not strictly in the Peach Belt, a volunteer peach tree growing in the yard of Mrs. John Dykes on Madison street has set an example for other peach bearing wood.

The volunteer, a young plant for such heavy work, is producing peaches as large as grape fruit. Some of the peaches measure 10.5 inches in circumference. The variety is in doubt, but the fruit resembles an Elberta.

To Exhume, Study Body of Thorne

CHICAGO, July 12 (AP)—The body of Montgomery Ward Thorne, 20-year-old heir to a mail-order fortune, will be taken from its grave at Rosehill Cemetery and examined, Coroner Walter E. McCarron said tonight.

Mrs. Marion C. Thorne, mother of the youth who died under mysterious circumstances in a $75-a-month Chicago North Side room June 19, agreed to the exhumation. She said she wants "to get at the truth" of her son's death.

Market Slackens After Fast Start

Steels, Railroads Stand Up; Motors Spotty; Tobaccos Off

By RADER WINGET

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP)—The stock market sat back and rested today after a somewhat vigorous start. The net result was indecisive with prices rather mixed but still showing a good measure of their early advantage.

Two points covered the range of change either way. Most of the plus and minus signs were small.

The steels and railroads stood up best. They had support from movie issues and utilities as well as from a long list of stocks responding to corporate developments.

Motors were spotty, and that also applied to coppers, oils, aircrafts and chemicals. Lower were the electrical equipments, building materials, and tobaccos.

AVERAGE UNCHANGED

Last week the stock market in two out of four sessions surged ahead with Friday market moving up to a new high mark.

Today the Associated Press average of 60 stocks held unchanged at the Friday close of $130, the best of the year and the highest since Oct. 22, 1929.

The railroad component scored a new high at $96.30 up 40 cents. The industrials lost 40 cents while utilities remained unchanged.

The best measure of the market's advance was given by the division between gains and losses. Out of the 1,194 individual issues traded, 552 advanced and 350 declined. There were 152 new highs and 2 new lows for the year registered.

VOLUME SOARS

Volume was maintained at 2,330,000 shares with the help of numerous large blocks. Friday's business amounted to 2,240,000 shares.

Among the blocks were National Theaters 10,100 shares at 7½ with a close of 7½ up ⅛, Curtiss-Wright three blocks totaling 31,500 shares at 10½ with a close unchanged at 10½, New York Shipbuilding 7,500 shares at 20 with a close at 20¼ up ⅜, Columbia Gas 10,000 at 14⅜ with a close at 14¼ off ½, Loew's 8,500 at 15¼ with a close at 15⅞ up ⅝, and Ashland Oil 12,300 at 12 with a close at 12⅛ off ⅛.

Pacific Mills, up 6⅛ on Friday, opened today on 1,600 shares at 45¼ and then closed at 44½ up 2⅝ as the eighth most active issue. Burlington Mills up ⅛ at 14¼ has offered to buy a large block of Pacific Mills Common at 50, a transaction that would give Burlington control.

Dixie Retail Sales Climb 4 to 8 Pct.

By JIM MONTGOMERY

Widespread offers of discounts, price cuts and limited down payments which come with the traditional clearance sales following Independence Day have prompted consumers in Atlanta and other parts of the United States to increase their spending considerably.

So far this month, as a matter of fact, America's retail sales volume is running from 3 to 7 per cent higher than a year ago, according to Dun & Bradstreet.

The week ended last Wednesday found the Southeast's gain ranging from 4 to 8 per cent above the comparable week of 1953, with only the Midwest and Pacific Coast regions doing better.

A number of Atlanta merchants have reported successful clearance sale promotions. Mute evidence can be seen in the number of shoppers milling through the city's streets and stores, bent on getting the best of a wide variety of bargains.

And they're not going home empty-handed.

Clothing sales are brisk, thanks to sizable mark-downs given by retailers to move large stocks which accumulated earlier in the season. Men's lightweight suits have proved the most popular apparel lines item.

Demand for work clothes and sport shirts is also high. Other popular items include women's separates, bathing suits, casual shoes and lingerie.

A seasonal slump, however, has hit the sale of household goods. Heavy appliances are in poor demand. Purchases of air conditioners and fans have improved slightly, but continue well below dealers' expectations.

Prolonged promotions haven't helped new and used car sales very much, as last week's volume was below that of the preceding week and well below that of last year.

The vacation-minded tourist, though, has helped push gasoline sales slightly over the previous week's high level and substantially above the volume of a year ago.

Chain Food Sales Rise

Southeastern food-chain sales in May climbed 6.7 per cent higher than in the same month of 1953, but failed to equal the national increase of 9.2 per cent, Chain Store Age magazine reported Monday.

The gain so far this year has been steady, according to the publication's survey of 14,346 stores operated by 93 chains. The Middle Atlantic States led in May with a hike of 11.7 per cent.

Prices Inch Up

Consumers' prices rose seven-tenths of 1 per cent from April to May, according to the National Industrial Conference Board index. It advanced to 184.9 in May from 183.6 in April and 178.4 in May, 1953. January, 1939, equals 100.

1955 Cotton Jumps $1.10

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP)—Cotton futures closed 20 cents to $1.10 a bale higher today. Gains in near months were held in check by liquidation and hedging. There also was a tendency among traders to sell near months and buy distant months on expectations that hedge selling, when the new crop movement becomes active, will exert pressure on nearby October and December contracts.

Spot houses covered contracts against mill and export business. Distant 1955 crop futures moved ahead confidently on expectations of another 90 per cent of parity loan next year. Traders based this thought on the idea that the government will earmark 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 bales of cotton supplies as surplus and not use it in figuring price supports which could mean another high price prop crop.

The weather in the cotton belt was generally clear whereas many sections need a good rain. Private surveys boosted estimated United States cotton export so far this season to about 3,747,000 bales. Exporters noted that if the current pace of shipments hold, exports for the full season ending July 31 would come up close to 4,000,000 bales. Shipments in all of the previous season were 3,048,000 bales.

No July transferables were issued today at New York or New Orleans. Trading in nearby July futures expires on Wednesday.

ATLANTA EGG MARKET (USDA-GDA)

Egg market firm on large sizes with moderate supplies about enough for relatively good demand. Prices advanced on mediums more in sympathy with the increase on large sizes since stocks of mediums generally burdensome and pressed for sale. Small eggs and peewees barely steady to weak because of excessive supplies and only light demand. Atlanta first receivers report they were paying local shippers the following prices cases included delivered Atlanta (min 60 per cent A quality including 10 per cent AA quality) extra large white 45-47c, large white or brown 41-43c, medium 29-32c, small 18-20c, peewees 10c. In sales to retailers consumer graded AA quality and special marks sold as follows: Extra large white 52-55c, large white 48-52c, large brown 47-48c, medium 37-42c, small 25-27c. Grade A quality sales to retailers consumer grades commercially graded cases included loose basis grade A large white 46-48c, A large brown or mixed 42-47c, mostly 45-47c, A medium 36-40c, A small 25-27c, B large 37-40c, B medium 31-36c.

Doubled Cotton and Corn Crops Seen If Farm Aids Are Used

By KATHERINE BARNWELL

Georgia's cotton and corn production per acre could be doubled "if crop information now available was applied by all farmers in the state," Dr. C. C. Murray, dean of the College of Agriculture, University of Georgia, said in Atlanta Monday.

Addressing the 14th annual convention of the Georgia Seedsmen's Assn. at the Dinkler Plaza Hotel, Dr. Murray said the average cotton yield easily could be raised from one-half bale per acre to one bale per acre.

He said the average corn production could be increased from 20 to 40 bushels per acre in Georgia.

MORE INCOME

"Think what that would do for the state's farm income," he said.

Dr. Murray said Georgia farmers should take advantage of research findings and information available from the Agricultural Experiment Stations in the state.

He said the present average production of 100 pounds of beef cattle per acre per year in Georgia could be hiked to more than 300 pounds.

He said average egg production could be raised from 150 eggs per hen a year to 200 eggs.

Sweet potato production in the state could be increased, he said, from an average of less than 100 bushels per acre to 200 bushels.

NUMBER DROPS

Dr. Murray said the number of Georgia farmers has declined greatly in the last 20 years—but production is "increasing steadily."

He emphasized the importance of good seeds—and said the "gospel of good seeds should be spread to farmers throughout the state."

Ivy W. Duggan, vice president of the Trust Co. of Georgia and former governor of the Farm Credit Administration, said Georgia tobacco growers could add $6,000,000 to the value of their crop by using only the very best seed available.

"Cheap seeds," he said, "are the highest priced planting seeds a farmer can buy."

Duggan explained the big increase in tobacco crop value would result from a relatively small additional outlay for seed. Present annual tobacco seed cost in Georgia was estimated at less than $75,000 by Duggan.

"The crop the farmer harvests," said Duggan, "will be the crop that he planted."

Leo Aikman, editorial assistant of The Atlanta Constitution, told the seedsmen they must "keep up with the changing times." Speaking on "Three Dimensional Thinking," Aikman stressed the importance of thinking "deeply . . . differently . . . and dynamically."

About 250 seed processors, seed growers and seed dealers from Georgia and neighboring states are attending the three-day meeting which will continue through Tuesday.

E. J. Young of Dawson, president of the Georgia Seedsmen's Assn., commended the association's work during the past year.

Young recommended establishment of an ethics committee by the association to study any unethical transactions among seedsmen and to institute an educational program.

He said some members of the association have been concerned about "canceled contracts, deliveries of seed not up to contract quality and other bad practices." He said ethics committees to study these problems already are in operation in South Carolina and Alabama.

New officers of the association will be elected at the closing session at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Sugar Futures

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP)—World sugar futures were irregular today, with nearby September declining on liquidation, reflecting depressed conditions in world raws. World raws were quoted at about 3.10 cents a pound f.o.b. Cuba which was within five points of the 1953 low, excluding a special purchase of surplus Cuban raws by Great Britain last year.

Domestic sugar futures were about unchanged and dull.

Domestic raws were available as low as 6.20 cents a pound delivered basis. Refiners were possible buyers at that level for sugar in suitable position.

WONDERFUL HALF-YEAR*

at The Citizens & Southern

The Most Comprehensive Banking System in the Southeast

ATLANTA, GA., JUNE 30, 1954—The six month period ending June 30th marked an outstanding half-year for both customers and stockholders of The Citizens & Southern National and Affiliate Banks in Georgia. The Bank increased the amount of protection for depositors by increasing the capital accounts to over $28,000,000. In addition, the number of services for customers was increased during the period . . . people can now finance stocks and bonds on a new installment purchase plan . . . businesses in Atlanta save money on the payment of their freight bills through a new C&S plan . . . banker customers of the C&S can offer their communities continual installment lending service through the use of a new C&S loan participation plan . . . and C&S service to Georgians was extended through the affiliation of another bank in the Atlanta area, making a total of 21 offices and affiliates.

For the stockholders of The C&S it was a wonderful half-year because mid-year profits were at their highest level in the 67-year history of the Bank.

* A detailed report on the half-year is available. Write: The Citizens & Southern National Bank, Broad and Marietta Sts., Atlanta, Georgia, and ask for The 1954 Mid-Year Report.

Musical Instrument Makers Optimistic

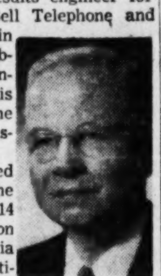

CHICAGO, July 12 (AP)—Predictions that sales of musical instruments this year will equal the 1953 record of 325 million dollars were sounded by industry spokesmen today.

Robert W. Keyworth of Chicago, president of the National Assn. of Musical Merchandise Manufacturers, said a survey of instrument makers showed they expected 1954 sales to equal the all-time record both in dollar volume and unit sales.

Keyworth and other industry leaders were similarly optimistic at a news conference in conjunction with the opening of the music industry trade show and convention.

Southern Bell To Honor R. S. Wood

Raymond S. Wood, equipment methods and results engineer for the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co. in Atlanta, will observe the 40th anniversary of his career with the company Tuesday.

R. S. Wood

Wood entered service with the company in 1914 after graduation from Virginia Polytechnic Institute. He served in a variety of positions in North Carolina in the plant and traffic departments before coming to Atlanta in 1920 in the engineering department. He was named dial and carrier engineer in 1949 and received his present appointment in 1952.

Wood will be presented a pin containing eight stars, one for each five-year period, at a luncheon in his honor.

Dry Goods

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP)—The cotton textile market was steady Monday, with some checking of prices by converters. Most of the business, however, was confined to spot transactions, with prices about unchanged. Sentiment among mill men was generally on the optimistic side, based on the farm price structure and the belief that inventories are of moderate size.

In wool goods some further buying of spring lines was noted. Particular interest was said to be focused on fabrics with a tweedy effect. Some dealers anticipated price rises on fabrics which have not previously participated in increases made on such fabrics as worsteds and flannels.

In rayon goods converter buying was mostly for nearby or spot delivery. Prices were about unchanged.

Naval Stores

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 12—The Naval Stores selling prices as reported by the U.S. Department of Agriculture:

Gum rosin, per 100 pounds net weight—drums, f.o.b. plant: WC $7.57. Drums, export f.a.s. Southern ports: WW $7.75 to $7.90, average $7.62.

Broilers Up A Half Cent

A heavy demand for north Georgia broilers Monday found desirable weights running short. The market trended firm, but too few farm-based sales were made to report the prices. Delivered sales at plants were up a half cent a pound at the top of the range which was from 25 to 26 cents a pound.

ATLANTA LIVE POULTRY (USDA-GDA)

Live poultry, broilers or fryers, fully steady; hens barely steady to slightly weaker. Early receipts largely broilers or fryers with moderate to light offerings of hens fully equal to requirements. Prices paid delivered and weighed in Atlanta, broilers or fryers, 2½-3 lbs. (small lots 3-35 coops) 26½-27c, few light type 17-24c, hens heavy type 18-20c, mostly 19c, light type 15-16c, roosters 12-15c. Ready to cook poultry. Market steady although early trading light and several sellers waiting further developments before announcing prices. Sales to retailers drawn ice packed mixed sizes broilers or fryers (small lots) 39-42c hens over 3½ lbs. 35-40c, under 3½ lbs. 31-34c.

NORTH GEORGIA LIVE POULTRY (USDA-GDA)

North Georgia live poultry market firm. Offerings and supplies of desirable weights short of a heavy demand. In trading at farms there were too few sales uncovered at definite prices to report. Prices paid 24 hours ending at 10 a.m. today, broilers or fryers 2½-3½ lbs. at farms f.o.b. plants 25-26c.

NEW YORK POULTRY

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP)-(USDA)—Live poultry. Shipments of caponettes liberal; other classes light. Trading slow for hens, turkeys and pullets; moderate for caponettes. Atlanta Produce

Many vegetables were scarce on the Atlanta fruit and vegetable market Monday morning after fairly active trading during Sunday according to the A.M.S. General prices were high above usual average for July. Receipts were heavy for watermelons and heavier for peaches, but supplies were cleaning up well.

Georgia butterbeans advanced to 4.00-5.00 per bushel; round green beans were steady at 3.25-4.25 and poles brought from 5.50-7.00 with very few available in late trading. Yellow crookneck squash held at 5.00-6.00 bushel, few 6.25 and some large 2.00-3.00; okra was steady and cleaning up at 3.00-4.00 bushel and large 2.00-2.50; field peas sold higher and about sold out at 3.00-3.50 for purple hulls and 2.50 to 3.25 for crowders; Florida eggplant ranged 1.50-2.50 and best Georgia was 2.50 bushel; bell peppers from North Carolina and Mississippi sold at 5.00-5.50 per bushel of mostly large size. Best Georgia and North Carolina cucumbers brought 7.00 bushel and some fair to best Maryland stock at 5.00-6.50. Corn was scarce with Georgia stock cleaning up early. New arrivals included one car of California crate yellow corn, 5 dozen ears at 4.00-4.25. Some Alabama crates of five dozen white jobbed at 3.50. Georgia cabbage sold early Sunday for low as 1.15 and high as 1.75 per bag with some late sales to 2.00 or more. Hundred pound bags of U.S. No. 1 potatoes included Alabama cobblers mostly 4.00; triumphs 4.25-4.50; Tennessee cobblers 4.00-4.50 mostly 4.25; North Carolina sebagos 4.25 and some cobblers 3.75-4.00. Few collards sold mostly 1.50-1.75 dozen and turnip greens were mostly cleaned up early.

Bulk peaches were unchanged selling 1.50-3.00 bushel with few better to 4.00 or more, some small 1.50-1.75 and poorer Georgia low as 1.00. Georgia and South Carolina cantaloups were in light supply at 2.00-2.50 bulk per bushel; watermelon supplies increased, but very little good stock was available. Large cannonballs and congos jobbed 40-65; few very best higher; medium sold 35-50 and small 20-30 each. Few Florida oranges were 5.50 box and grapefruit 2.75-3.00 box; half box carton 1.40-1.50.

Corn, Beans Rise Briskly

CHICAGO, July 12 (AP)—The hot, dry weather which beat down on the Midwest today stirred up aggressive buying of 1954 crop soybeans and corn futures on the Board of Trade. Soybeans ended with gains running to more than 9 cents and corn more than 4 cents.

Other sections of the market also were mainly firm. Old crop corn and soybeans advanced in sympathy with the new crop months. Wheat moved upward on a government crop estimate which was smaller than the trade had expected. Rye and oats scored moderate gains.

Wheat closed 1⅜-2¼ higher, corn 1 to 4¼ higher, oats ⅛-⅝ higher, rye 1¾-2¼ higher, soybeans 3¾-9½ higher and lard 15 to 67 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Temperatures hovering around the 100-degree mark, unrelieved by rain, dotted the main corn and soybean belts. They served to produce the first real crop scare of the season for these crops, and it came right after the government had reported prospects of big production.

East Pointer Found Dead In Grant Pool

The body of William Franklin Woodliff, 64, of 711 S. Church St., East Point, was found Monday morning floating in the Grant Park swimming pool, local police reported.

The body was discovered by A. W. Eller, Hapeville bakery employe, who was driving past the pool.

Ptl. J. M. Mulliford and R. J. Pike said Woodliff apparently had been dead for some time. They discovered Woodliff's clothing on a bench at the edge of the pool.

The pool had not been opened to the public at the time of the discovery.

Police quoted a sister, Mrs. J. M Lee of the same East Point address, as saying her brother had been in poor health.

Besides Mrs. Lee, survivors include two other sisters, Mrs. P. B. Cheek of Atlanta and Miss Nell Woodliff of East Point; two nieces and two nephews.

A native of Gainesville, Mr. Woodliff was formerly a watchman here. He was a bachelor.

Private graveside services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday in Decatur City Cemetery. Dr. James P. Wesberry will officiate.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our mother, Mrs. Ella Kreis Bogan, who passed away 22 years ago today.
Faithful and kind in all her ways,
Sincere and true in heart and mind,
What a beautiful memory to leave behind.
MR. AND MRS. J. AUSTIN DILLON.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Don't Hire Substitute For Raising Children

Ronnie D., 11, was standing shyly on the sidelines at a ball game.

"Why don't you go out and play with the other kids?" I asked.

"They don't want me," he ruefully confessed, "'cause they call me 'butter fingers.' I drop the ball.

"But how will I ever learn how to be a good player, Dr. Crane, unless somebody will play with me?

"I don't have any brothers or sisters at home and my Daddy says he is too busy and for me to run along and play with the kids.

"But the kids don't pick me when they choose up teams. So what can I do?" and he looked at me wistfully.

DADS, TAKE WARNING

Later that night I casually talked to Ronnie's Daddy about the situation. He explained that he was working hard to get ahead in his company and did not feel he had time for Ronnie.

"Besides, that's why I contribute to the YMCA and the Boy Scouts," he laughed.

But I explained that you can't hire substitutes for parents, at least with a $10 contribution.

A good Dad should have given Ronnie a couple of brothers and sisters within a year or two of his age, so he could have had playmates in his own home.

If that were medically impossible, then encourage him to bring playmates home. And teach him to be reasonably proficient with ball and bat and other kid games.

GOLDEN CALF

If you are an average American worker, you already have almost everything a millionaire enjoys, and I'm not joking.

You eat three meals per day, but that's all he craves.

You wear only one suit or one pair of shoes at a time, and he can do no more.

Both of you read this newspaper, and eat bread from the same bakery. You drink the same pasteurized milk. You get your water from the same city supply.

You travel in an auto and so does he. Maybe he spends more for his, but it doesn't go any faster or any more safely.

FATHER'S DAY

Father's Day shouldn't be limited just to a Sunday in June. It should be 365 days in the year. But so should Son's Day for Ronnie.

A good father must pay a certain price in time and energy, training his kids. However, it is only for a few years because after the age of 12, they usually shift to their pals.

And don't bawl them out unduly. Mix at least an equal dose of compliments with your scoldings. By all means, let them know you love them.

And to help raise your parental batting averages, send for my 200-point "Rating Scales for Good Parents." Address your request to me in care of The Constitution, enclosing a stamped return envelope plus a dime.

Although Easter is scheduled for the first full moon after the vernal equinox, the date is set not by observation of the real moon but by rules established before astronomers knew as much as they now do about the movements of the moon.

Nagging Backache Sleepless Nights

Often Due to Kidney Slow-down

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, headaches, dizziness and loss of pep and energy. Don't suffer restless nights with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exertion or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

A Rhyme a Day

"If time or circumstances do not permit an extended vacation, a change of routine and rest at home will be surprisingly refreshing."—Article quote.

These happy days that lie ahead . . . will be more pleasant, it is said . . . if people who are pleasure bent . . . will learn vacations are not meant . . . to wreck the body or to get . . . the nervous system all upset.

For those of us who can't afford . . . to go away, a good hard board . . . to sleep on will do just as well . . . as beds found in some cheap hotel . . . a little arsenic mixed in . . . with what we eat will soon begin . . . to give us pains and stomach cramps . . . like those we get in mountain camps.

Also, it doesn't cost too much . . . to add a realistic touch . . . by sprinkling sand on all the floors . . . and propping open all the doors . . . to let flies and mosquitoes in . . . to feast upon a sun-burned skin.

Grease up and tune the old machine . . . and fill the tank with gasoline . . . pull out the plug and let it drain . . . then promptly fill it up again . . . if these instructions are obeyed . . . your nerves won't be as badly frayed . . . and more important than all that . . . your pocketbook won't be as flat.

Sunglasses Discussed: Color, Cost and Type

I hesitate to write about sunglasses because everyone has a different idea on color, cost, and construction.

Ordinarily, cost need not be a factor provided there are no imperfections such as bubbles, scratches, and prismatic defects. The outdoor worker seldom needs colored specs because it is natural for man to adapt to bright light.

On the other hand, sunglasses are excellent aids on going out of doors for persons who spend much of their time inside, where the eyes are accustomed to lower illumination. Goggles also are invaluable when light is intense and produces glare.

Reflection from snow, water, sand, paved highways, and bright sunlight are examples. Wearing tinted glasses in the home or at night lessens visibility and is a silly practice.

Considerable research has been done to perfect glasses for night driving. Numerous suggestions have been made on ways to eliminate the glare of approaching automobile lights but, to my knowledge, none has proved entirely satisfactory.

They may help when passing other autos but vision is impaired the rest of the time. Tinted lenses, especially yellow, never should be worn by persons with defective color vision.

Tinted windshields, like tinted lenses, reduce visual efficiency when motoring at night. The inability to see distant objects is one of the most disturbing features; an object easily distinguished at 100 feet may be hazy or indistinct until 25 or 50 feet away.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	2 diamonds	2 hearts	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	4 diamonds	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	5 clubs	Pass
5 hearts	Pass	6 hearts	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Eight of diamonds.

There were several variations in both the bidding and the play when this hand appeared in a recent tournament. Somewhat of an oddity is the bidding sequence shown in the diagram, in which one player concealed to the end a holding of five trumps to the king-jack of a major suit in which partner had opened the bidding. He attempted to justify such action on the ground that in case North held only a four card spade suit the hand could be played with better effect at hearts, employing the five card spade suit in the side for the possible discard of a diamond or a club out of the North hand. This bid did seem rather farfetched.

West opened the eight of diamonds. South, on the theory that it "made no difference," put up the queen and East's king went to South's ace. In short order South was to regret this gesture, for indeed it made "quite a difference" what dummy played to trick one. Declarer then extracted trumps and cashed all the spades.

This reduced all hands to four cards. Declarer retained a heart and a diamond in each hand, while dummy had the queen and a small club and declarer the ace and one. It was then South's intention to throw East in with a diamond and force him to lead away from the king of clubs. East, however, had been careful to retain a low diamond on the off chance that West held the seven, and when declarer got out with a diamond, East could underplay. West therefore held the diamond trick with his seven and was able to lead a club through dummy's queen to release East from the end play.

Observe how differently the play develops if declarer plays low from dummy on the opening lead. At the end, declarer plays the queen and East is forced to win the trick and make a suicidal return.

Accounting Fund Set Up At Alabama U.

Special to The Constitution

UNIVERSITY, Ala., July 12—An accounting scholarship, to be known as the Chester Knight Scholarship, will be inaugurated this fall in memory of the late Chester Knight, former head of of the accounting department in the School of Commerce.

Dr. S. Paul Garner, acting dean of the Commerce School, said that the scholarship will be for $200 a year and will be awarded to some worthy student majoring in accounting.

Funds for the scholarship were contributed by Professor Knight's friends, former students and professional associates.

The scholarship draws from income on an invested fund and is a permanent scholarship. As contributions come in the scholarship possibly will be increased.

Goodyear Strike Closes Atco Mill

Constitution State News Service

CARTERSVILLE, July 12—According to G. I. Parmenter the Atco plant of Goodyear Mills closed down at the end of the second shift Friday night for an indefinite period because of the strike in the Goodyear rubber plants.

The notice stated that the close-down was necessary because it was impossible for the plant to produce fabric when they are unable to ship it.

"We hope that the shutdown will be of short duration," Parmenter said.

Ansley Park Is Assured New Zoning 'Protection'

Residents of Atlanta's Ansley Park section were assured Monday that proposed new zoning ordinances will "protect" the residential classification of that area.

The assurance came from Max Cuba, chairman of the Municipal Planning Board, during a more than three-hour-long hearing on zoning questions which would affect northeast Atlanta.

More than 50 residents of Ansley Park appeared to urge that "business encroachments" be kept from their area of old established homes. Marthane Sanders, president of the Ansley Park Civic League, acted as general spokesman.

J. M. Stephens, member of the planning firm which prepared the proposed new ordinances, said the "plan for Ansley Park as a whole" called for restricting zoning here to one-family dwellings with at least 9,000 square feet per lot and houses of at least 1,000 square feet.

Cuba said only frontage on Peachtree (which has been recommended for rezoning for business) would be considered for any change in the present residential zoning rules.

REACTIONS WANTED

The hearing, one of a series of sessions designed to obtain citizens' reactions to proposed new zoning ordinances and land use maps for Atlanta and Fulton County, also featured petitions from a number of residents of Juniper St. from Ponce de Leon Ave., NE, to Twelfth St., NE, be rezoned for "business."

Under proposed new zoning, that street would be zoned for apartments and residences, but petitioners Monday declared the area is "going downhill." Dwight Carter, attorney speaking for Juniper St. property owners, said the street had been "spot-zoned for business" and that entire business rezoning was necessary to "keep it from becoming a slum area."

Mrs. Lillian Barker, Atlanta writer known as the official biographer for the Dionne quintuplets, appeared to ask that property she owns at 121 Fifth St., NE, "remain zoned for business."

Mrs. Katherine Connerat of 165 Fourteenth St., NE, urged that Fourteenth St. be rezoned for business "because it is no longer desirable as a place to live."

LIKES OLD ZONING

A request that property at the northeast corner of Piedmont Ave. and Morosgo Dr., NE, remained zoned for business—instead of being rezoned for apartment use, as has been proposed—came from John E. Fagan, attorney.

Fagan told the board his client, J. D. Carter, who had planned to establish a shopping center called Dogwood Village at that area, had already "spent $160,000 and signed a 52-year lease" on the basis of old zoning. Fagan insisted a shopping center was needed in the section.

Another attorney, Herbert Ringle, appeared for clients who, Ringle said, needed easing of zoning regulations on Roswell and Wieuca Roads to permit construction of "an elaborate shopping center."

Opposing petitions were received for an area at the insection of Peachtree and Lenox Roads. Edward White, attorney for Peachtree-Lennox Company, said a large tract there "could only be a community asset if provisions were made to allow it to become a business and commercial area." Another attorney, V. K. Meadow, told the board, however, that "not a single one of the property owners" in that area wanted to change the zoning to business.

Cuba Monday visited the Municipal Planning Board into two groups, with one instructed to make a detailed study of problems involved in rezoning South Fulton and the other group to study zoning for North Fulton sections.

GROWLS AND KISSES

Peggy Ann and Father

Parents Sob, 'Fuss' Over Daughter Feared Dead, but Wed and a Mom

ALBUQUERQUE, July 12 (AP) — With tears and loving scolding, Peggy Ann Hewston was reunited today with the family which feared her dead for two years.

Peggy Ann's mother, Mrs. Robert B. Hewston of Edgewood, Pa., fell sobbing into her daughter's arms as she emerged from the family car after the long ride to New Mexico and her long lost daughter.

"Oh, honey, honey, why didn't you at least drop us a postcard?" Mrs. Hewston cried, holding tight to her 17-year-old daughter, now a wife and mother.

"I HAD TOM"

Peggy Ann—wife of Airman Tom Cory—fled from her Pittsburgh home two years ago, mainly because she didn't like the school she attended.

"Honey, you ought to be spanked," her father growled in her ear as he held her close.

"Why didn't you call your mother when you had the baby? You could have let us know when you had the baby."

"I had Tom," his daughter replied.

"Yes. I gotta' take care of her," her blond airman husband said.

For the past two years the Hewstons had believed Peggy Ann—or Barbara as she now prefers to be called—to be dead.

"Every girl that I passed on the street that looked the least bit like Peggy, I'd turn around and follow," her father said. "I used to chase after them just to get a look at their face."

NATIONWIDE SEARCH

Peggy Ann was the object of a nationwide search after she disappeared from her home in August 1952. Her identity came to light in a series of episodes starting six-and-a-half weeks ago when she was in the Sandia base hospital having her son, Dale Eugene.

She was recognized by a Pittsburgh airman who knew her brother. She denied it when he asked whether she was the missing girl. But he was not convinced and contacted the sheriff's department here. Undersheriff Walter Geis, whose brother, Matthew, is on the Pittsburgh police force, helped to confirm the identity.

Negroes To Meet On Golf Ruling

Atlanta Negroes who won a federal court order last week opening city golf courses to their race on a segregated basis are to meet in executive session with the Atlanta branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People at 7 p.m. Tuesday at Big Bethel A.M.E. Church.

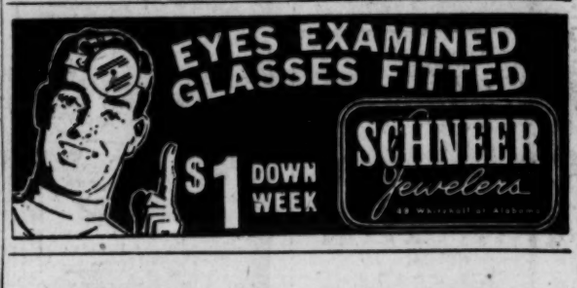

E. E. Moore Jr., one of three Negro attorneys involved in the suit, said a decision on whether to appeal the ruling may come out of the session.

CURTIS STAIRWAY

Beauty in stairwork is not a matter of size. Today's homes demand smaller, more delicately molded forms, which made the stairs of Colonial days so delightful. Illustrated is a typical Early American stairway made up from standard Curtis stair parts, supplied by Campbell. Many graceful stairway designs are shown in the Curtis Style Book—not expensive, yet very beautiful. Come in and see them.

Ask to see the Curtis Certificate. It is displayed in homes for sale that have used genuine Curtis Windows and Woodwork. If building yourself, request your architect to specify Curtis.
